City of Auburn

Sharing the Road with Cyclists

The City of Auburn has an active community of bicycling enthusiasts in addition to the heavy pedestrian traffic associated with a major University campus. Perhaps it's fitting, then, that Auburn is the only Alabama community to be named a "Bicycle Friendly Community" by the League of American Bicyclists.

Since safety is a key element to bicycle friendly roads, the distinction includes recognition of local educational efforts. In Auburn, bicycle safety education starts early with a program for fourth graders throughout Auburn City Schools. Education efforts have grown to include the annual Travel with Care campaign, a partnership between local government, local law enforcement, and local education at all levels.

Recently, bicycling enthusiasts, through the Auburn Bicycle Committee, came to the Auburn City Council to request a new law to improve bicycle safety and awareness of road safety issues. On October 4, 2011, the Auburn City Council passed an ordinance establishing 3 feet of clearance required for an automobile passing a bicyclist. The ordinance, referred to by the Auburn Bicycle Committee as the "Give Me 3," Law is similar to existing laws in eighteen states.

The "Give Me 3" Law may be Auburn's newest bicycle safety law, but motorists and cyclists alike should be aware of all relevant traffic laws:

- Bicyclists have the same rights, and must obey the same rules of the road, as other vehicles.
  - Traffic lights, signs and traffic rules apply to cyclists as well as cars.
  - Cyclists fare best when they are predictable and act and are treated as vehicles.
- It is illegal to ride on the sidewalk in downtown Auburn, in the area bounded by Glenn Avenue, Wright Street, Magnolia Avenue and Gay Street.
  - Studies have shown that it is safer for a bicycle to ride on the road, rather than on a sidewalk.
- If a bicycle lane is present, then cyclists are legally required to ride in the bicycle lane, and not in the road.
- Cyclists should keep to the right side of the roadway where there are no bike facilities.
- Cyclists should not ride more than two abreast on roadways.
- Cyclists must have an operating headlight on the front of their bicycles and reflectors on the front and rear spokes of the wheels and pedals when riding between ½ hour before sunset and ½ hour before sunrise.

Other guidelines range from recommended best practices to common sense:

- When riding your bicycle, sit on the seat only.
- Always ride slowly and carefully in traffic.
- Cyclists should equip bicycles with:
  - A headlight bright enough to be seen at a distance of at least 500 feet
  - A horn, bell, or other warning signal. Sirens and whistles are not permitted.
  - Rearview mirror
  - Spoke reflectors
  - Brakes that work well
- Bicycles may carry only the number of people for which they are designed. Children can be carried safely in special seats attached to the bicycle.
- Ride your bike predictably. Use hand signals to communicate your intentions.
- Always wear a helmet.
- Bicycles ride with traffic, Pedestrians walk against traffic.

An accident can change, or end, your life or the life of someone you love. Whether you're driving a car or riding your bicycle be sure you know and follow the rules of the road to stay safe, and to help others do the same.

For more information on the law requiring a 3-foot passing clearance, please go to <http://www.auburnalabama.org/agenda>, and read Ordinance 2726 in the Related Information column for the October 4, 2011 City Council meeting, or call 501-7260.

Going Green for the Holidays

Sustainable Holiday Turkey

Recycle your grease through the City's Cooking Oil/Grease Recycling Program

If your holiday plans include frying a turkey, don't pour the leftover grease down the drain, recycle it through the City of Auburn's Cooking Oil/Grease Recycling Program. To participate, simply pour any used cooking oil (after it has cooled) into its original, leak-proof container and drop it off at the RecycleAuburn Drop-Off Center, located at 365-A North Donahue Drive. While you're there pick up a new, empty container for future use, courtesy of the City of Auburn. This newest addition to the City's recycling program has been a great success as approximately 1,275 gallons of used cooking oil have been returned to the Recycling Center since the beginning of the program in March 2009.

On August 1, 2011 the City of Auburn's Water Resource Management Department launched a Curbside Grease Recycling pickup in concert with the City's Cooking Oil/Grease Recycling Program. This new service provides Auburn citizens with another way to participate in the program by having their used cooking oil/grease picked up at their residence. If you would like to utilize this curbside service, or would like to find out more information about this program, please call the Water Resource Management Department at 334-501-3069 to schedule a free curbside collection. Additional details regarding the Curbside Grease Recycling Program can be found in the August 2011 Open Line, available online at www.auburnalabama.org/openline.

Please help us keep our sewers clean by disposing of household cooking oil and grease in the proper manner. Visit www.auburnalabama.org/wrm or contact Matt Dunn or Mikel Thompson in the City of Auburn Water Resource Management Department at 501-3060 for more information.

Auburn Public Library Receives Grant

The Auburn Public Library recently received a $20,000 grant that will enable the Youth Services section to provide children and young adults with foreign language materials and culturally diverse programming. The Youth Services Foreign Languages core collection will make materials and services more accessible to younger patrons in languages most popular in Auburn's international community. This enhanced offering will complement the foreign language curriculum in the Auburn City Schools. Once the collection is established all Youth Services patrons will have access to high-quality reading materials in Korean, Chinese, Arabic, German, Russian, Hindi, French, Spanish, Vietnamese and Japanese.

Eve Engle Kneeland, Youth Services Librarian, wrote the grant application and is responsible for selection and maintenance of the collection. The Youth Services Foreign Languages Collection will help the Library achieve the goals of its five-year plan, as well as enhancing the library's pursuit of its mission to provide excellent library service to all residents of Auburn.

Christmas Tree Recycling

When you take your Christmas tree to the curb after the holidays, you're not throwing it away. You're recycling it. The City of Auburn Environmental Services Department will collect Christmas trees placed out with customers' weekly curbside collections, and recycle them as part of the City's routine bulky waste (trash) collection program. Trees should be placed at the curb for recycling on your regularly scheduled collection day.

Recycle Your Holiday Boxes

And as long as you're recycling your tree, don't forget to recycle the boxes from your gifts this holiday season. Cardboard boxes and gift boxes are picked up as part of the City's Curbside Recycling Program and may also be recycled at the RecycleAuburn Drop-Off Center, located at 365-A North Donahue Drive. Customers wishing to place their cardboard at the curb for recycling should break down all boxes and leave them at the curb for pick-up on their regularly scheduled collection day.

Dog Tag Renewal

All dogs over 3 months old kept within the City of Auburn are required to have a City license. The annual fee for all spayed or neutered dogs is $5.00. The license fee for all other dogs is $15.00. Dog licenses are renewed each calendar year and are due January 3, 2012. Late penalties will be applied after January 31, 2012. For additional information on purchasing a dog license, contact the City's Revenue Office at 501-7239.

No Soliciting Law for Residential Neighborhoods

The common sales practice of door-to-door solicitation is a nuisance to some, but appreciated by others. Regardless of your personal opinion of this common solicitation practice, you should be aware of whether the solicitors who visit your house are legitimate and in compliance with local solicitation laws.

All solicitors are required to have a Solicitor's Certificate. If you receive a visit at your residence from a solicitor, ask to see a current City of Auburn Solicitor's Certificate issued by the City's Revenue Office. A Solicitor's Certificate is also required for a solicitor to leave fliers at a residence. The certificate is wallet sized and features a photo of the individual on it. A business must hold a current City of Auburn business license in order for its employees to be issued a Solicitor's Certificate.

This year, 45 of 52 certified solicitors represent security system vendors. If a vendor is soliciting security systems, he or she must also possess an Alabama Electronic Security Board of Licensure Sales License. This license is wallet-sized with the solicitor's photo attached. Each individual who comes to your home, regardless of whether he or she is making the presentation, must have their own Solicitor's Certificate.

There are a few other simple rules for residents to keep in mind:

- If you don't wish to be visited by solicitors, you can post a "no soliciting" sign near the main entrance of your residence. Alternately, homeowner associations can post such a notice at the main entrance to the neighborhood.
- The following are exempted from registration but must follow all other regulations: Persons making solicitations for church, religious organizations or charitable organizations if they are tax exempt under IRS code; students soliciting to finance extracurricular programs if approved by the principal; persons canvassing for political purposes; and persons making solicitations for nationally recognized youth organizations such as scouting.
- Soliciting may only take place between the hours of 8:00am – to 8:00 pm.

If you suspect a solicitor is in violation of these rules, you may contact the Public Safety non-emergency line at 501-3100. Violations are punishable by up to a $500.00 fine and up to 6 months in prison. For more information on the solicitation laws and licenses, please contact the City's Revenue Office at 501-7239.
