Community Interest and Opinion Survey

City of Auburn, AL

Executive Summary Report

Overview and Methodology

ETC Institute conducted a Community Interest and Opinion Survey during the Winter of 2015. The purpose of the survey was to help determine park and recreation priorities for the community. The survey was designed to obtain statistically valid results from households throughout the City of Auburn. The survey was administered by a combination of mail and phone.

Leisure Vision worked extensively with City of Auburn officials in the development of the survey questionnaire. This work allowed the survey to be tailored to issues of strategic importance to effectively plan the future system.

The survey was mailed to a random sample of households in the City of Auburn. The same day the surveys were mailed, each household that received a survey also received an automated voice message encouraging them to complete the survey.

The goal was to complete a random sampling of 500 surveys. This goal was exceeded and 515 surveys were completed. The results for the sample of 515 households have a 95% level of confidence with a precision rate of at least +/- 4.3%.

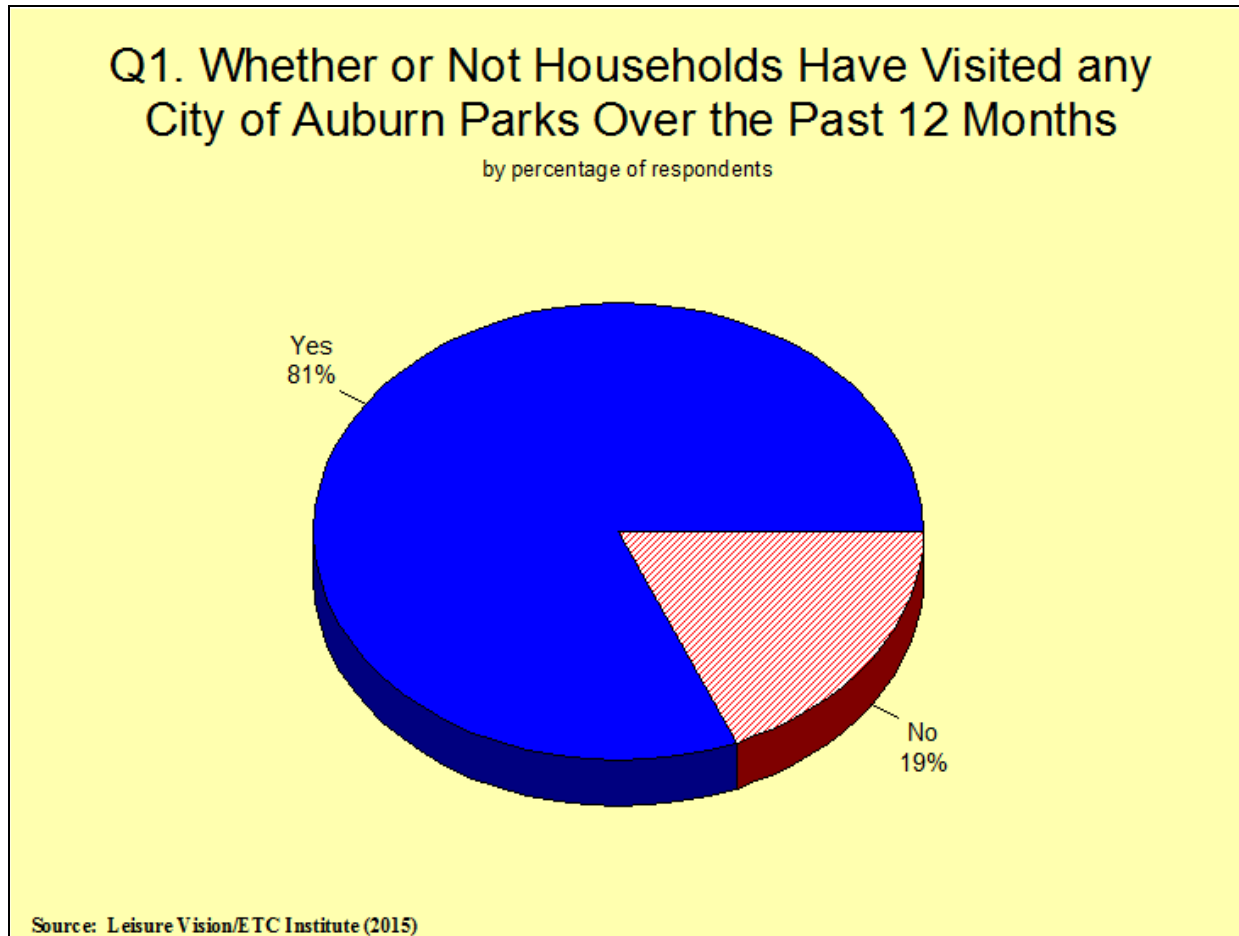

The following page summarizes the top 10 survey findings, with subsequent pages highlighting survey findings for individual questions.

Top 10 Survey Findings:

1. Eighty-one percent (81%) of households have visited a City park, which is slightly higher than national benchmarks. 90% of households indicated the conditions of parks are excellent or good.
2. The City of Auburn is the primary provider of indoor and outdoor recreation and sports activities to City residents.
3. While a high number of households use at least one recreation and parks facility, frequency of usage is a concern. There is no facility that more than 3% of households in the City use 50 times per year or more. Frequency of usage is impacted by program spaces available.
4. The City is doing an excellent job in addressing the needs for youth soccer fields and youth baseball and softball fields, as well as youth football fields.
5. Walking and biking trails, small neighborhood parks, and large community parks are the most important outdoor facilities to households.
6. Indoor fitness and exercise facilities, indoor swimming pools/leisure pool and weight room/cardiovascular equipment areas are the most important indoor facilities to households
7. Downtown events, large community events, holiday events and youth sports leagues and programs are all activities that are important to respondent households, and a high percentage of the existing market is using City facilities.
8. Adult fitness and wellness programs and adult programs for 50 years of age and older are program areas of importance to respondent households that are not being as well served by City facilities.
9. By a wide margin building greenways and trails for walking and biking is the improvement to outdoor facilities that respondents feel is most important.
10. Building a new indoor recreation center is the improvement to indoor facilities that respondents feel is most important. Indoor fitness and exercise facilities, indoor swimming pool and leisure pool, including lap lanes, weight room/cardiovascular equipment area, and indoor walking and running track are all important spaces for respondents.

Major Findings

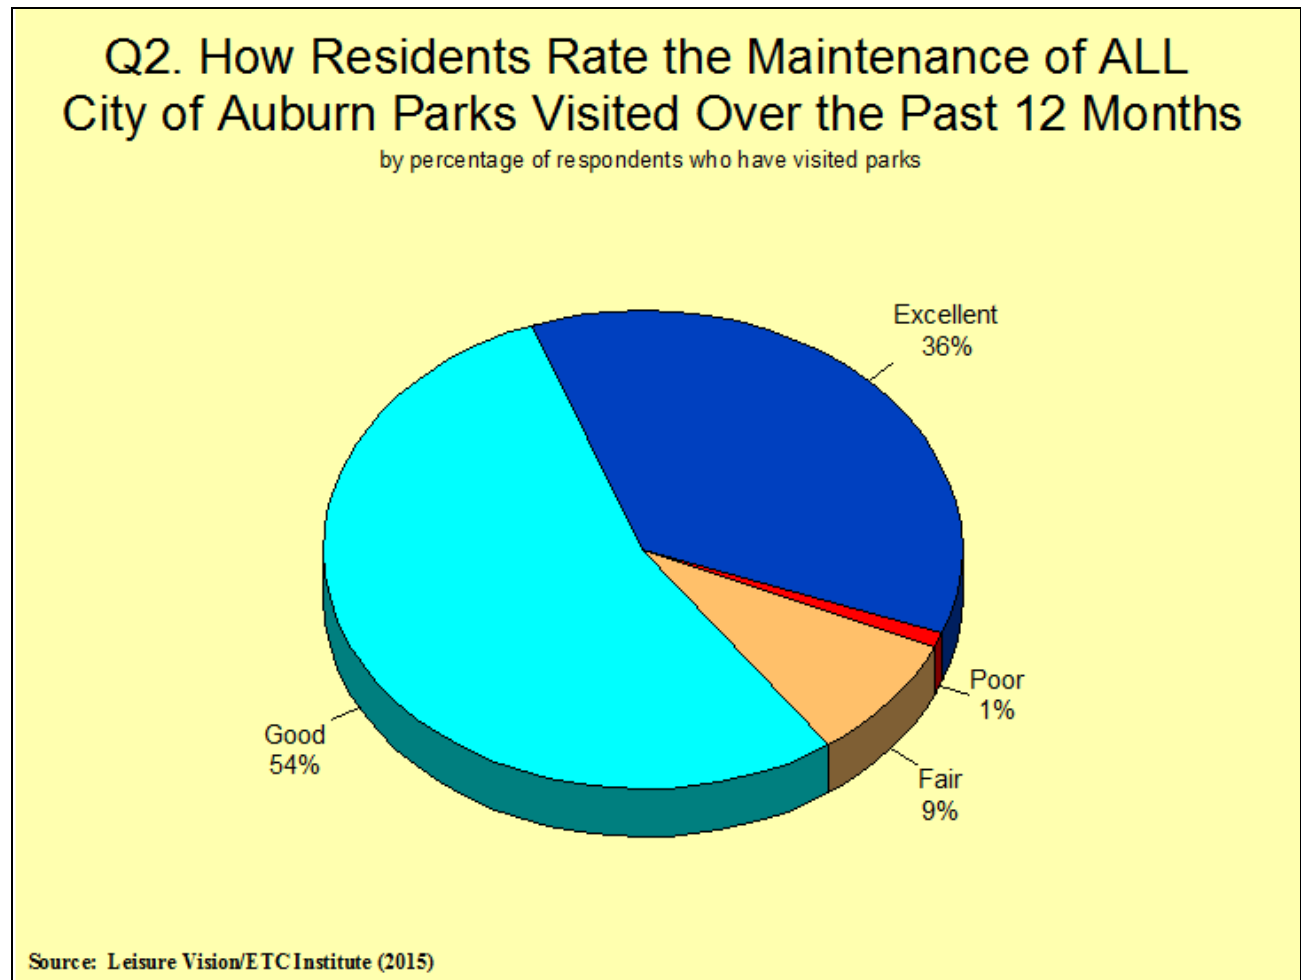

Park Usage. Eighty-one percent (81%) of residents surveyed visited City of Auburn parks over the past 12 months.

Further Analysis: Significantly more households with children visited parks. Of households with youth under 10, 98% indicated they visited parks, while 86% of households with youth 10-19 years of age visited parks. Only 68% of households with only adults 65 and older visited parks.

The national benchmark for usage of parks is 78%.

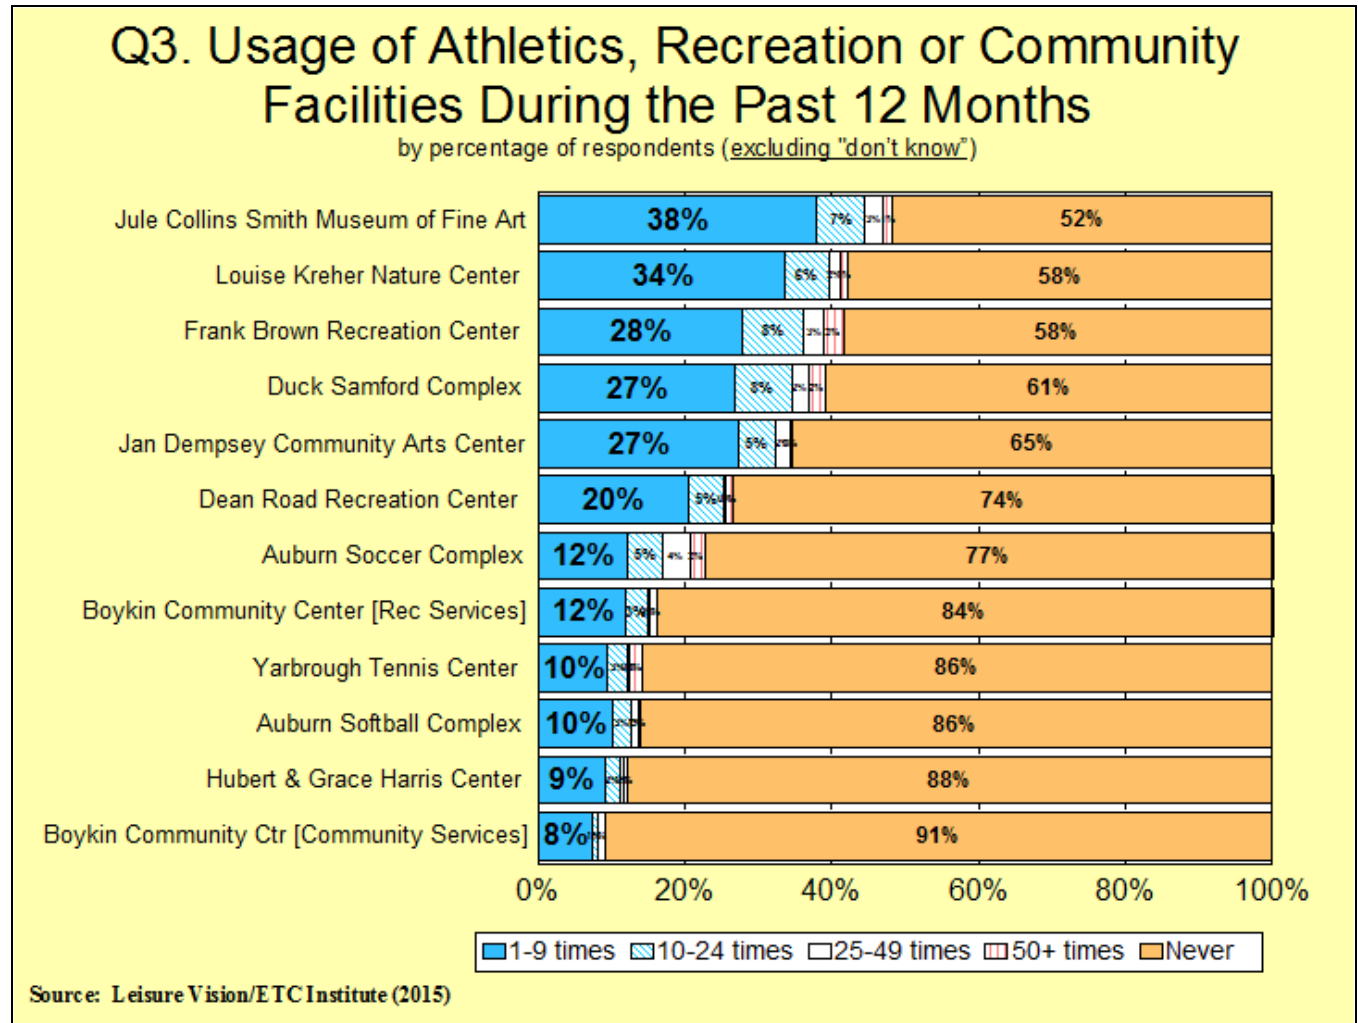

Park Maintenance. Eighty-one percent (81%) of residents surveyed visited City of Auburn parks over the past 12 months. Of those, 90% rated the maintenance of all City parks as either “excellent” or “good”; 9% rated park maintenance as “fair” and only 1% gave a “poor” rating.

Further Analysis: At least 25% of all income levels rated the conditions of parks as excellent. Additionally, at least 50% of households of all income levels indicated the conditions of parks as good. Excellent ratings were highest in households with adults 55 and over and no children. Forty-four (44%) of these households rated maintenance conditions as excellent.

The national benchmark for rating the conditions of parks as excellent is 34%.

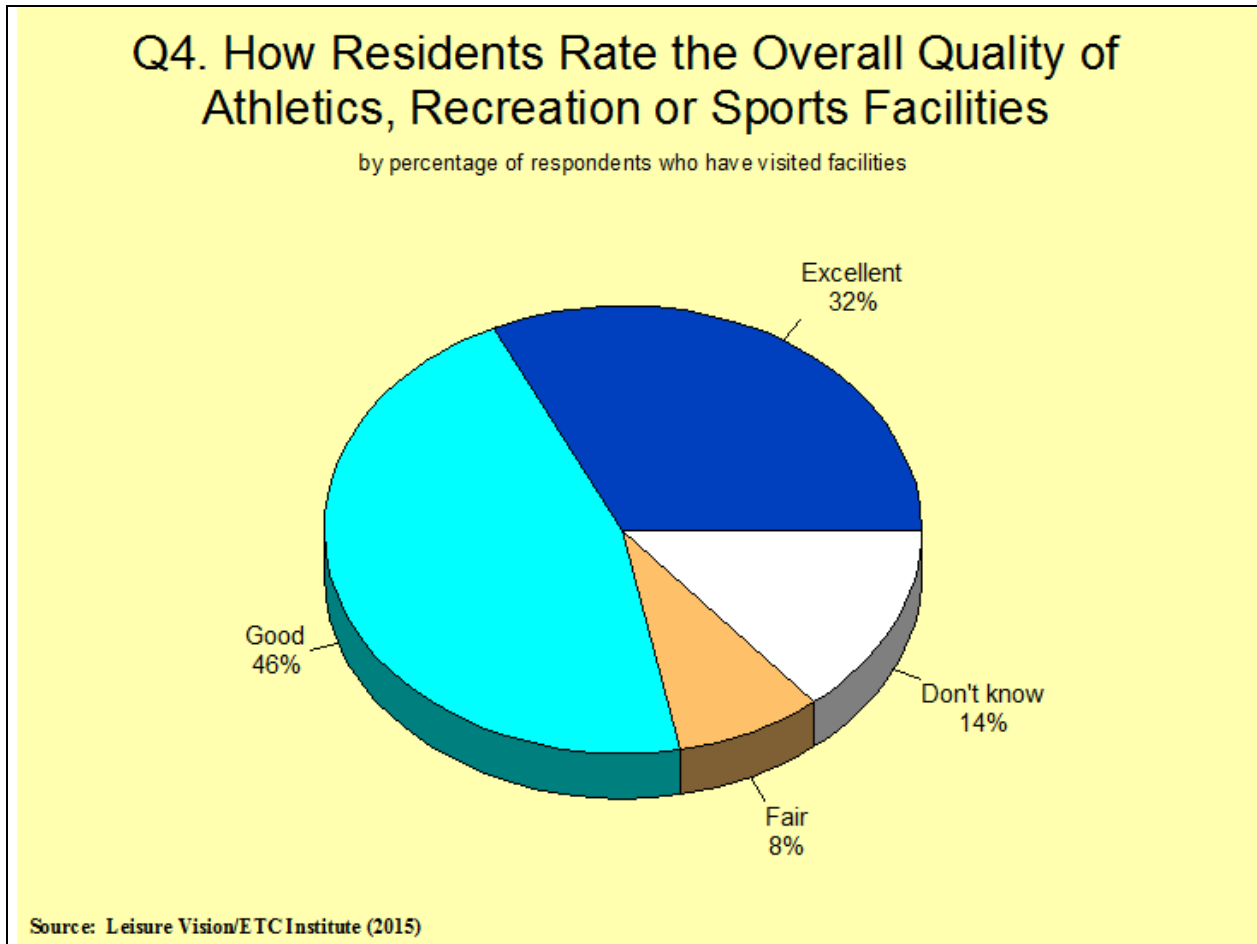

Usage of Athletics, Recreation or Community Facilities During the Past 12 Months. The Julie Collins Smith Museum of Arts was the facility that the highest percentage of households used, with 48% of households using the facility at least once. The Louise Kreher Nature Center was used by 42% of households, as was the Frank Brown Recreation Center.

Further Analysis: Both the number of households using facilities over the past 12 months and the frequency of usage of facilities is low. In particular, frequent usage of facilities is a concern. There is no facility that more than 3% of households in the City of Auburn use 50 or more times per year.

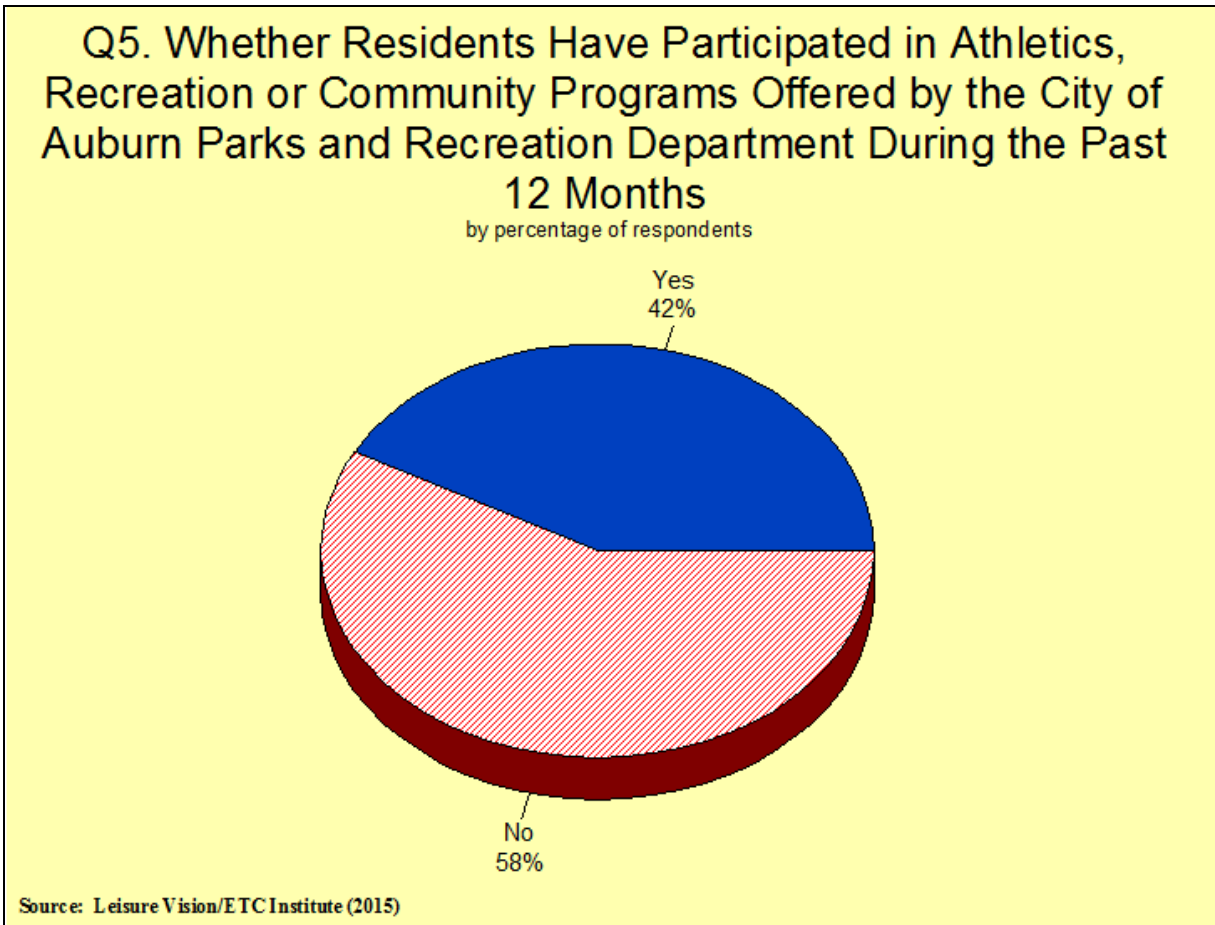

The Auburn Soccer Complex was the facility used most frequently (10 or more times) by households with youth under 10 years of age.

Quality of Athletics, Recreation and Community Facilities. When asked to rate the overall quality of athletics, recreation or sports facilities, 78% of residents who had visited facilities rated them as “excellent” or “good”.

Further Analysis: The overall ratings of quality are within the percentages we often see. However as indicated under the previous question, the overall usage and particularly the frequency of usage was low.

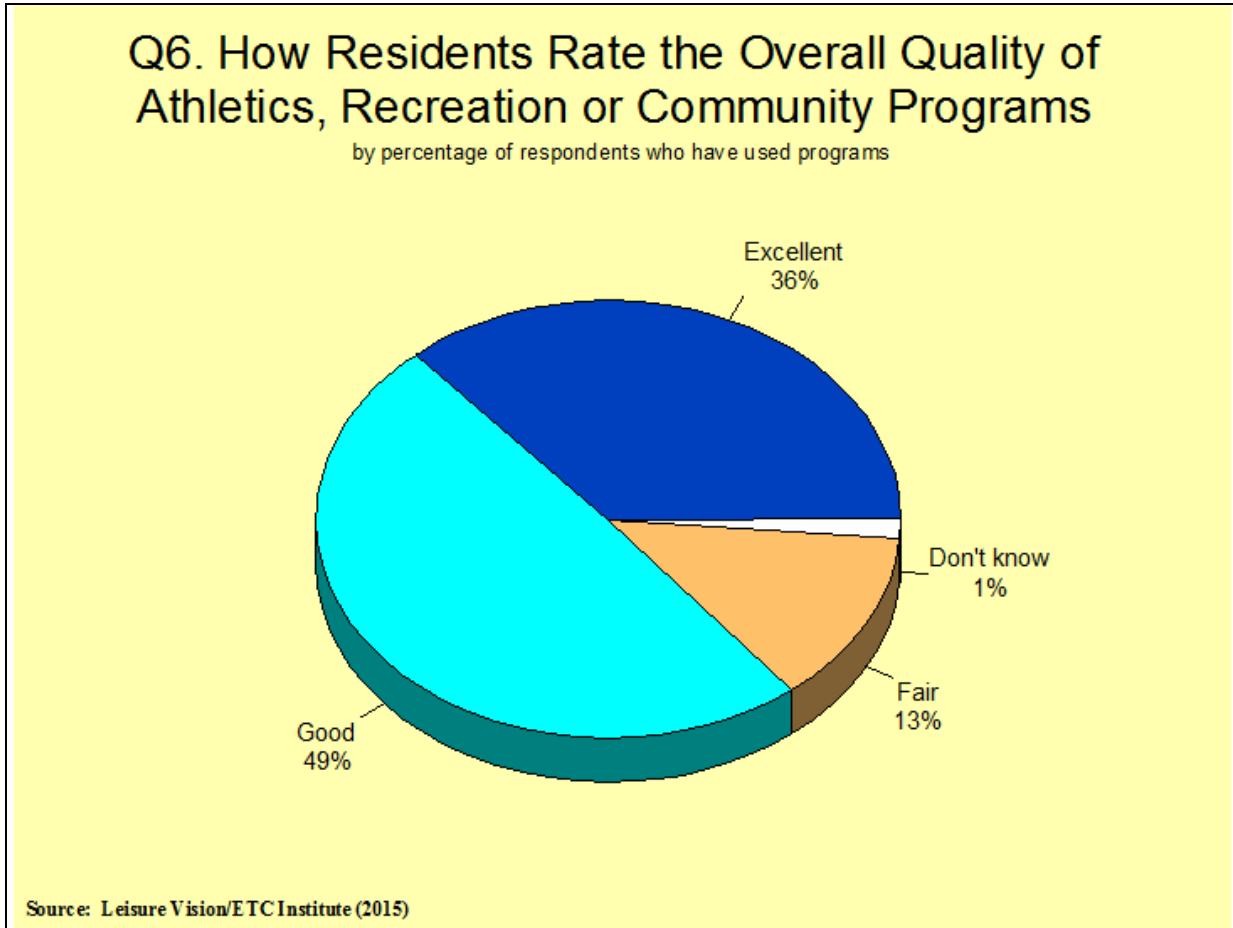

Participation in Athletics, Recreation and Community Programs. Forty-two percent (42%) of residents surveyed participated in athletics, recreation or community programs offered by the City of Auburn during the past 12 months.

Further Analysis: Seventy-seven percent (77%) of households with youth under 10 participate in programs. Fifty-one percent (51%) of households with youth 10-19 years of age participate in programs. Only 19% of households with no children and all adults ages 20-24 participate in programs, while 34% of households with no children and all adults 65 and older participate in programs. Similar to park usage, the greatest percentage of users are from households with children.

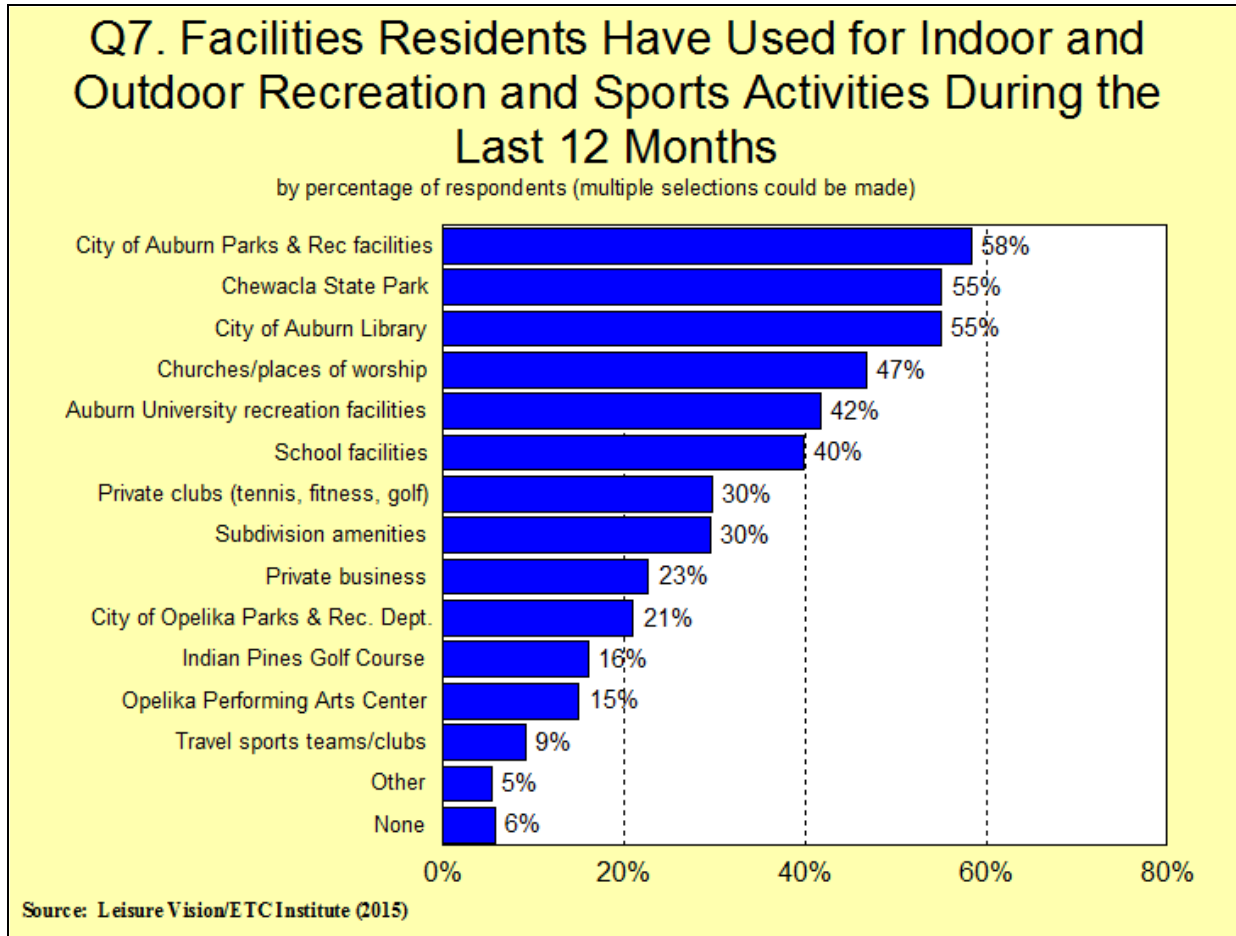

The national benchmark for participation in programs is 35%.

Quality of Athletics, Recreation and Community Programs. As indicated under Question #5, forty-two percent (42%) of residents surveyed participated in athletics, recreation or community programs offered by the City of Auburn during the past 12 months. Of those, 85% rated the overall quality of the programs as “excellent” or “good”, 13% rated the quality as “fair”, and 1% did not have an opinion.

The national benchmark for overall quality in programs is 35% giving “excellent” ratings.

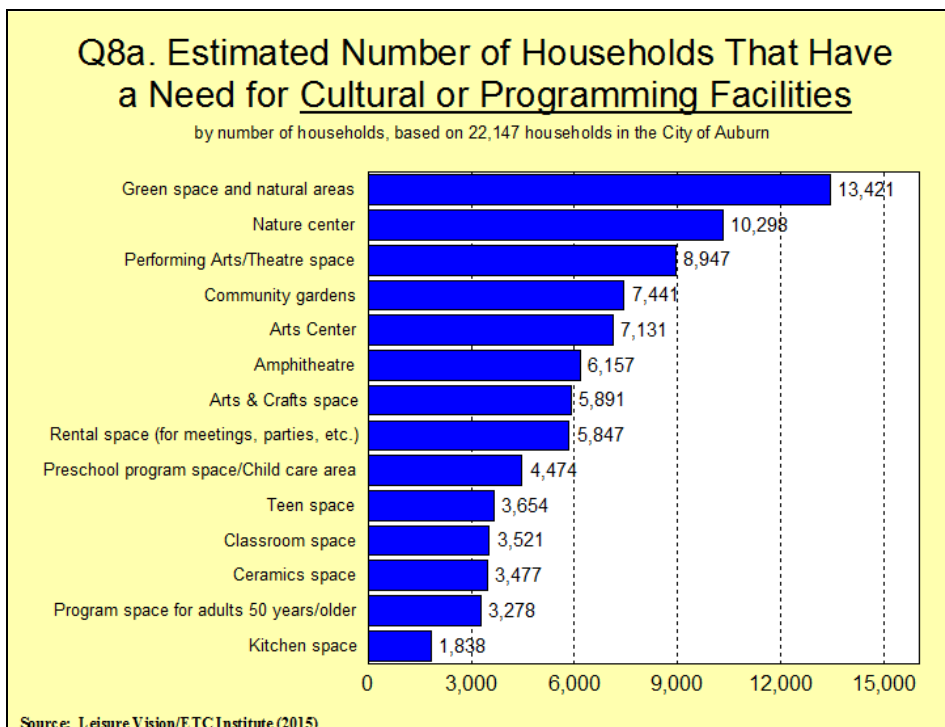

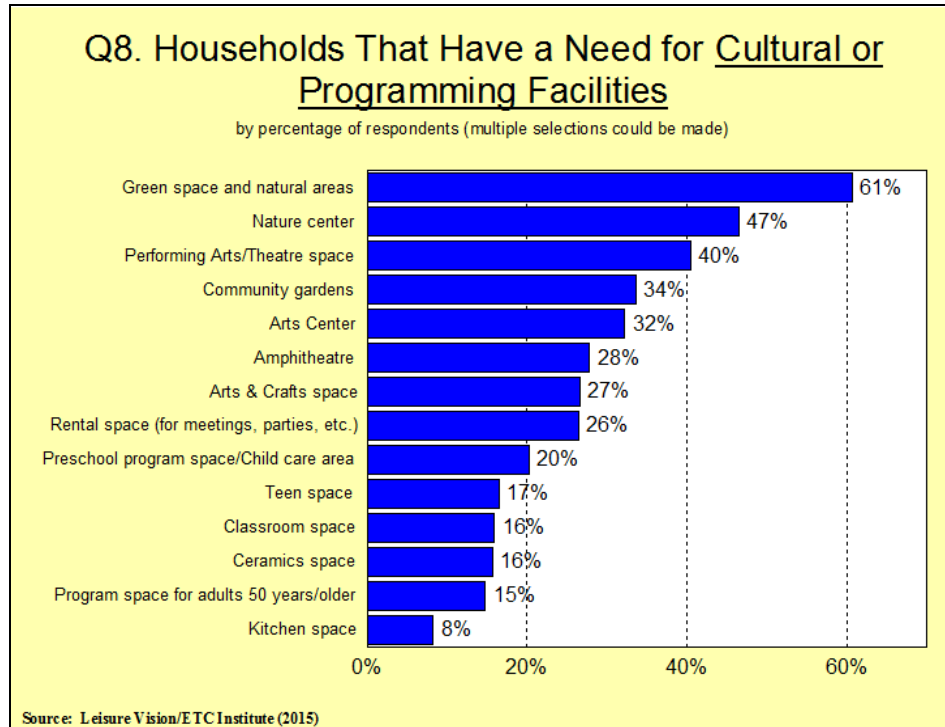

Facilities Used for Indoor/Outdoor Recreation/Sports Activities During the Last 12 Months. The most frequently used facilities for indoor and outdoor recreation and sports activities during the last 12 months include: City of Auburn Parks and Recreation facilities, Chewacla State Park, City of Auburn Library, churches or places of worship, and Auburn University recreation facilities. The facilities that residents used the least include Opelika Performing Arts Center and travel sports teams and clubs.

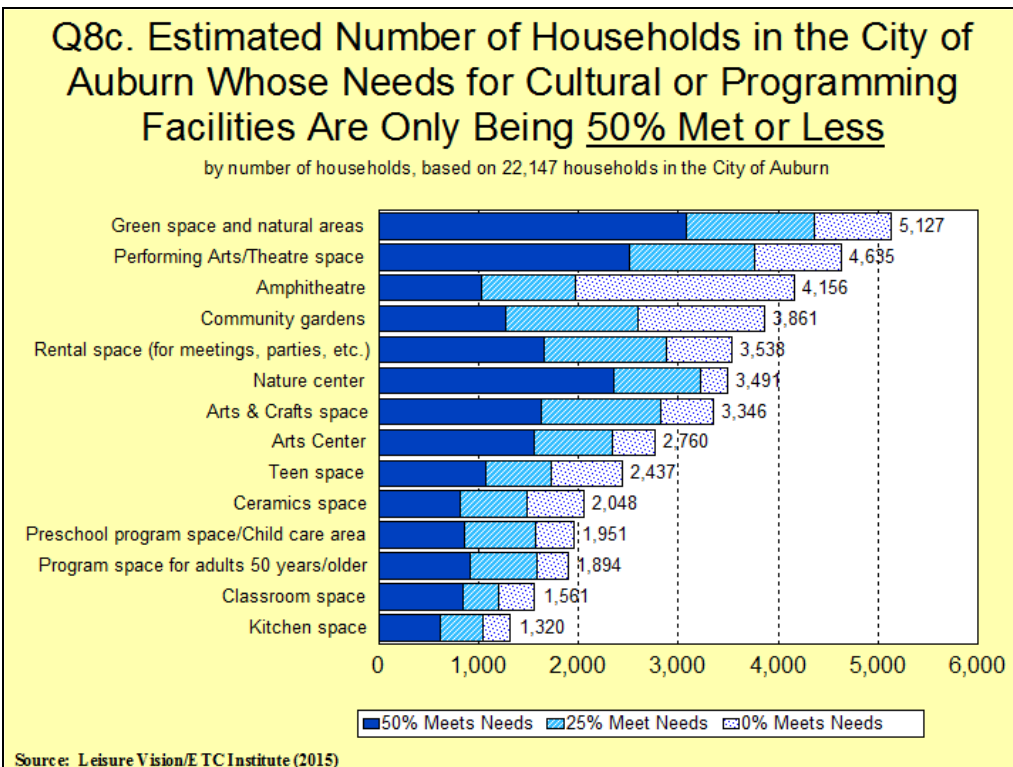

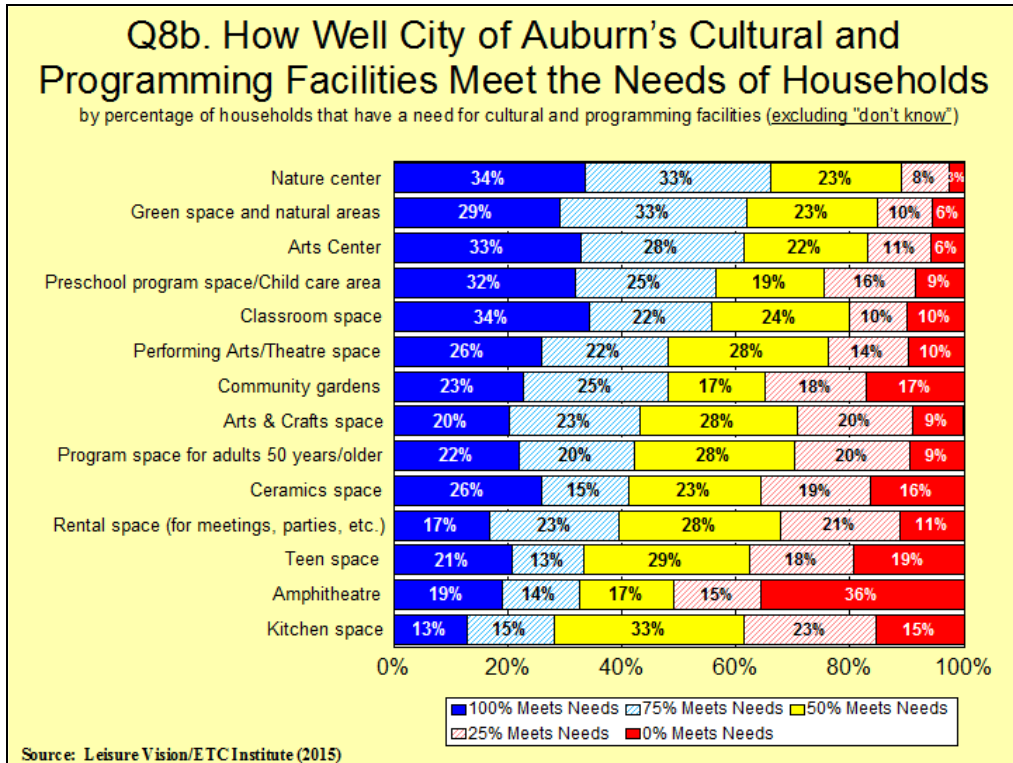

Further Analysis: City of Auburn Parks and Recreation facilities were among the two most frequently used facilities by both households with children and without children. City of Auburn facilities were the most frequently used by households with youth under 10 years of age, with 83% of households using the facilities. School facilities (78% of households) were most used by households with youth 10-19 years of age. Chewacla State Park (58%) was most used by households without children and every adult between the ages of 20-54. Churches/places of worship (46%) were the most used by households without children and every adult between the ages of 55 and over.

Households That Have a Need for Cultural or Programming Facilities. The cultural or programming facilities that residents indicated are needed most include: Green space and natural areas, nature center, performing arts/theatre space, community gardens, and an arts center.

The bottom chart indicates these percentages for households into actual numbers of households, based on 22,147 households in the City.

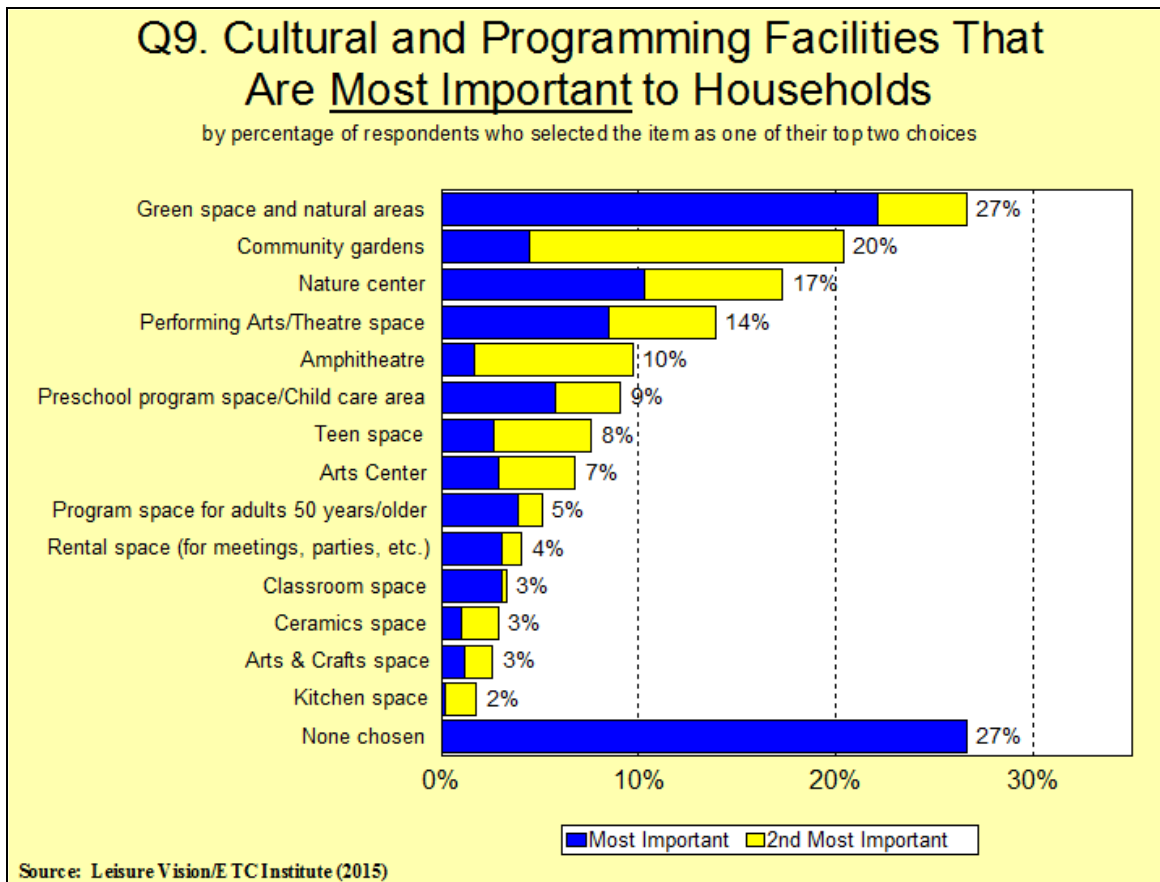

How Well Cultural and Programming Facilities Are Meeting the Needs of Households. The cultural and programming facilities that are meeting the needs of those households that have a need for each facility the most include: Nature center, green space and natural areas, arts center, preschool program space/child care area, and classroom space.

Further Analysis: The previous charts provide an excellent means for the City to quantify the number of households having a need whose needs are not being met at least 50%. For example, as indicated on page ix, 13,421 households have a need for green space and natural areas. Sixty-seven percent (67% of those households (top chart, page x) indicated their needs were at least 75% being met. The remaining households (33%) have “unmet needs” of 50% or greater which is significant.

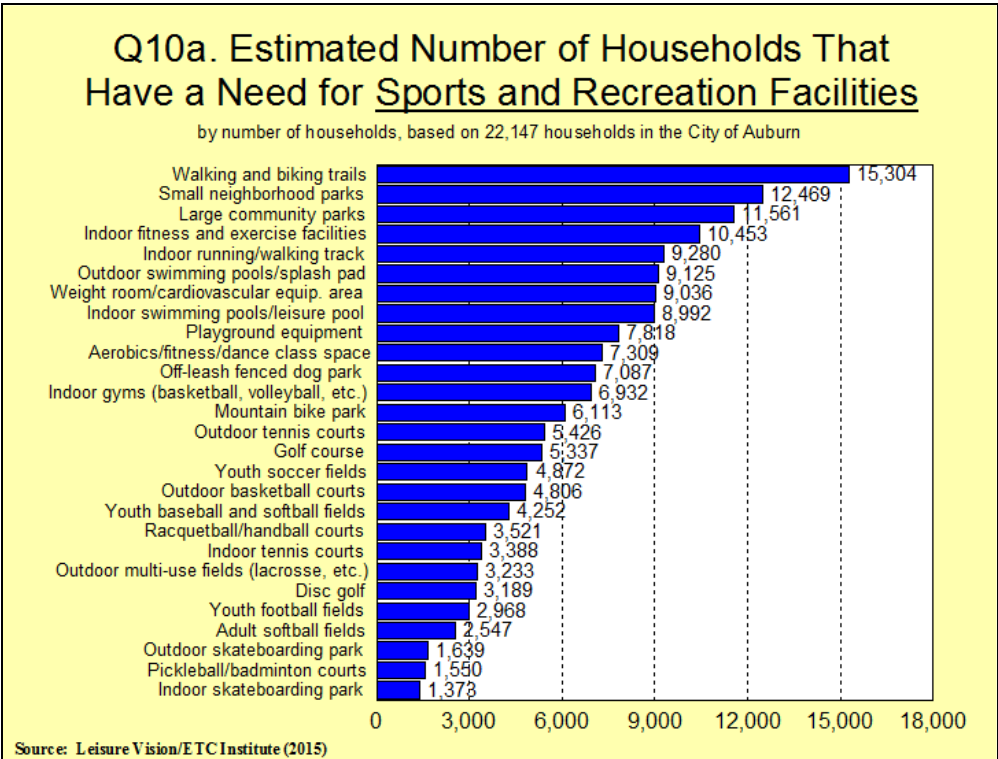

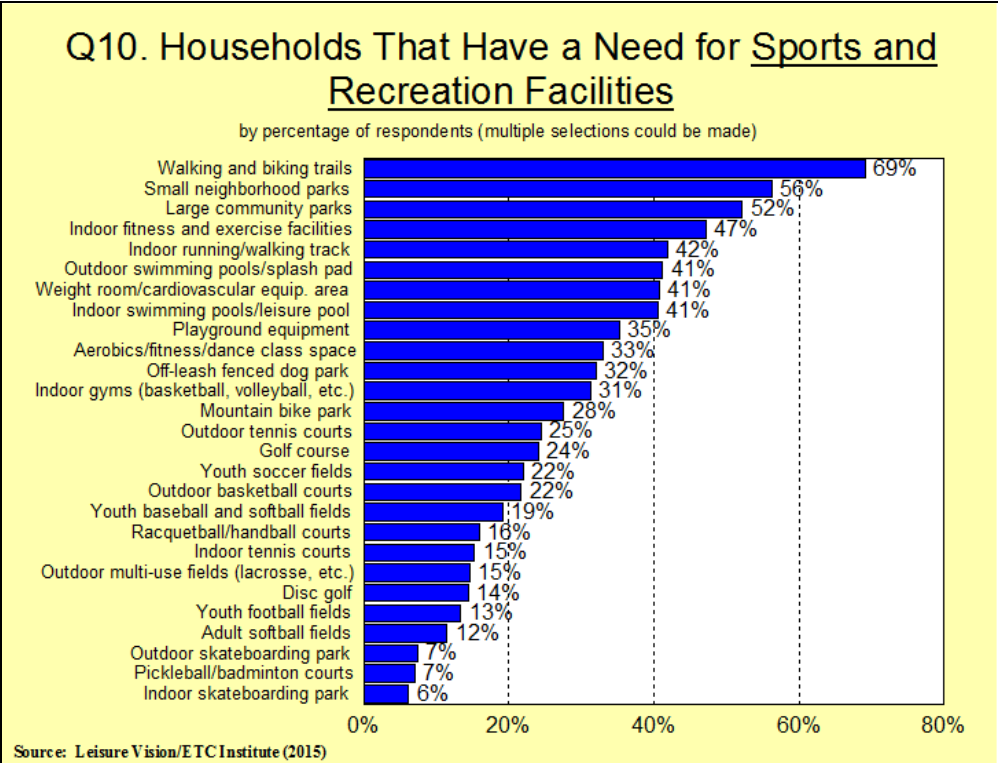

Cultural and Programming Facilities That Are Most Important to Households. Based on the sum of their top two choices, the cultural and programming facilities that are most important to households include: Green space and natural areas, community gardens, nature center, and performing arts and theatre space.

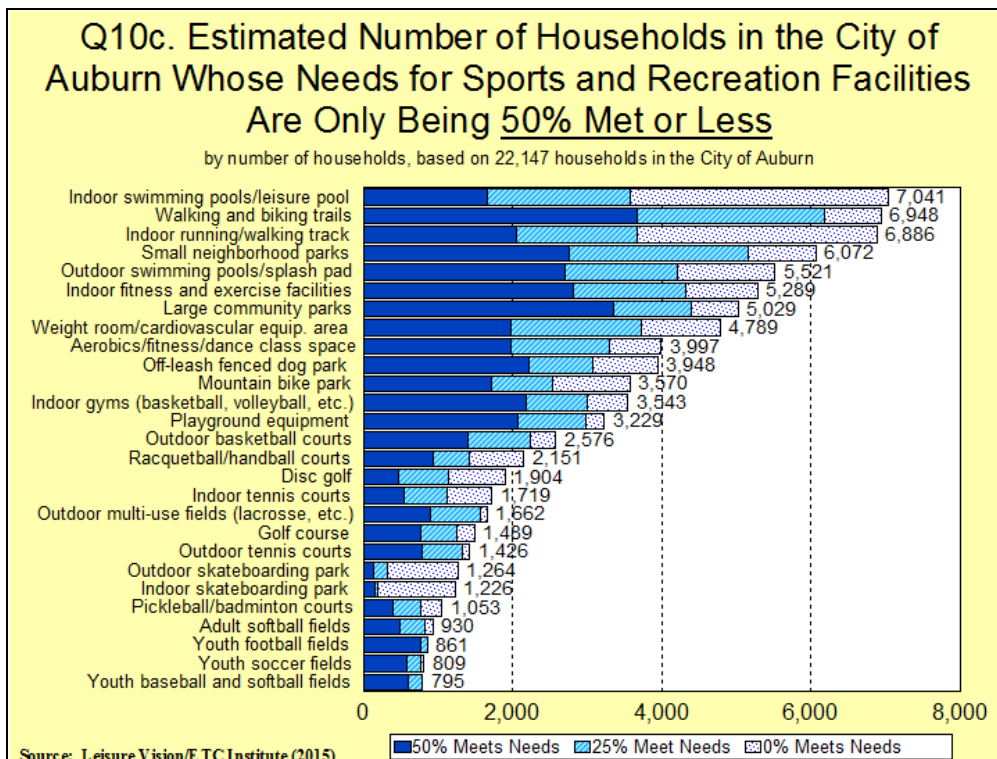

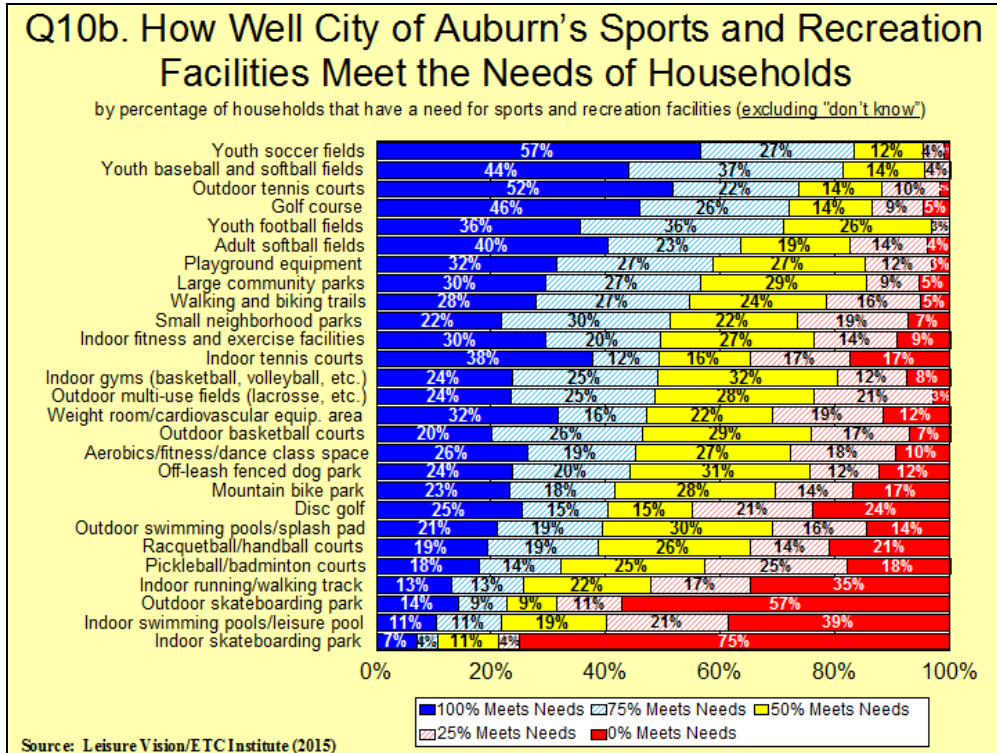

Further Analysis: By a very wide margin, green space and natural areas are considered by households as one of their top 2 most important cultural and program facilities. Green space and natural areas were rated as the most important cultural and programming facility by both households with and without children.

The nature center was rated as the 2nd most important facility for households with youth under 10 years of age. Performing arts/theater space was the 2nd most important facility for households with youth 10-19 years of age. Community gardens were the 2nd most important facility for households without children and every adult between the ages of 20-54. The nature center and performing arts/theater space tied for the 2nd most important facility for households without children and every adult between the ages of 55 and over.

Households That Have a Need for Sports and Recreation Facilities. The sports and recreation facilities that residents indicated are needed most include: Walking and biking trails, small neighborhood parks, large community parks, indoor fitness and exercise facilities, and indoor running and walking track.

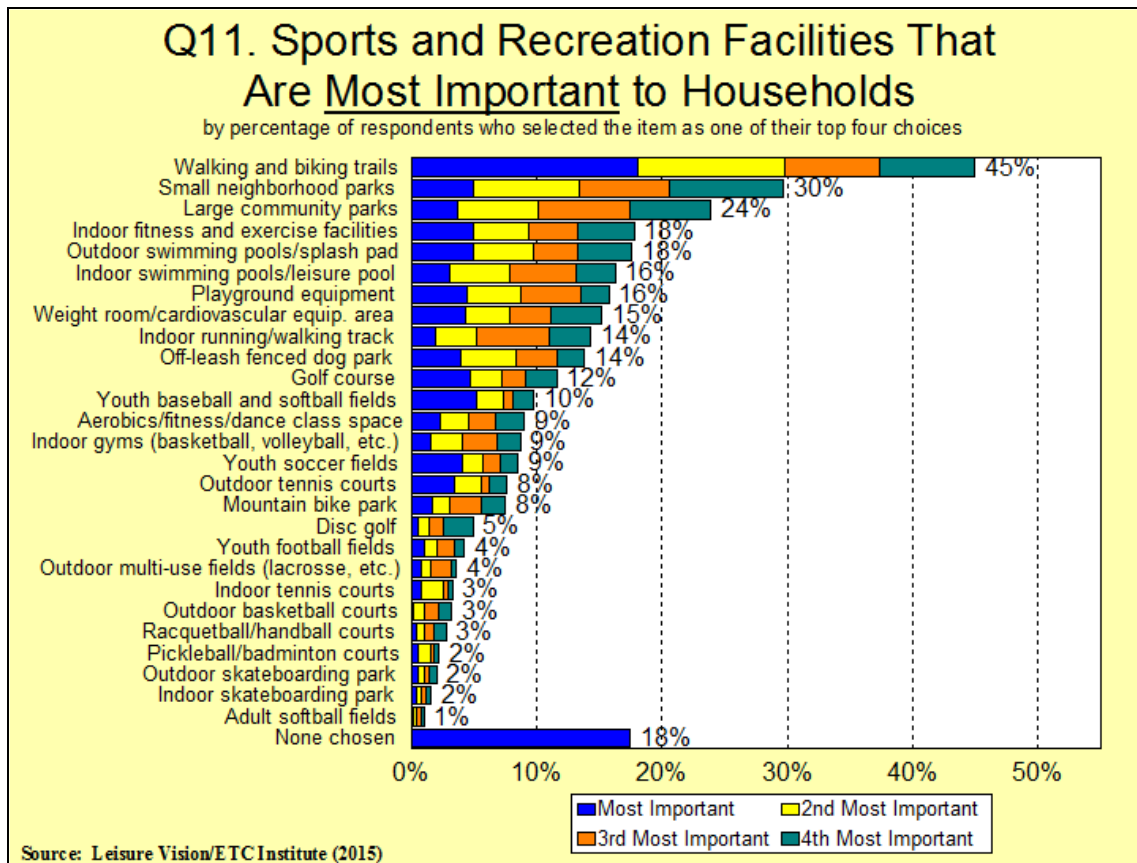

How Well Sports and Recreation Facilities Are Meeting the Needs of Households. The sports and recreation facilities that are meeting the needs of households the most include: Youth soccer fields, youth baseball and softball fields, outdoor tennis courts, golf course, and youth football fields.

Further Analysis: Generally when at least 40% of households indicate their needs are “100% being met” the City is doing an excellent job in those areas for those having a need. The City is doing an excellent job in meeting the needs of households having a need for soccer fields and softball and baseball fields. However, a great number of households having a need for indoor programming spaces (particularly indoor swimming pools/leisure pools, indoor running/walking track, and indoor fitness and exercise facilities) needs are not being met.

Sports and Recreation Facilities That Are Most Important to Households. Based on the sum of their top four choices, the sports and recreation facilities that are most important to households include: Walking and biking trails, small neighborhood parks, large community parks, indoor fitness and exercise facilities, and outdoor swimming pools/splash pad.

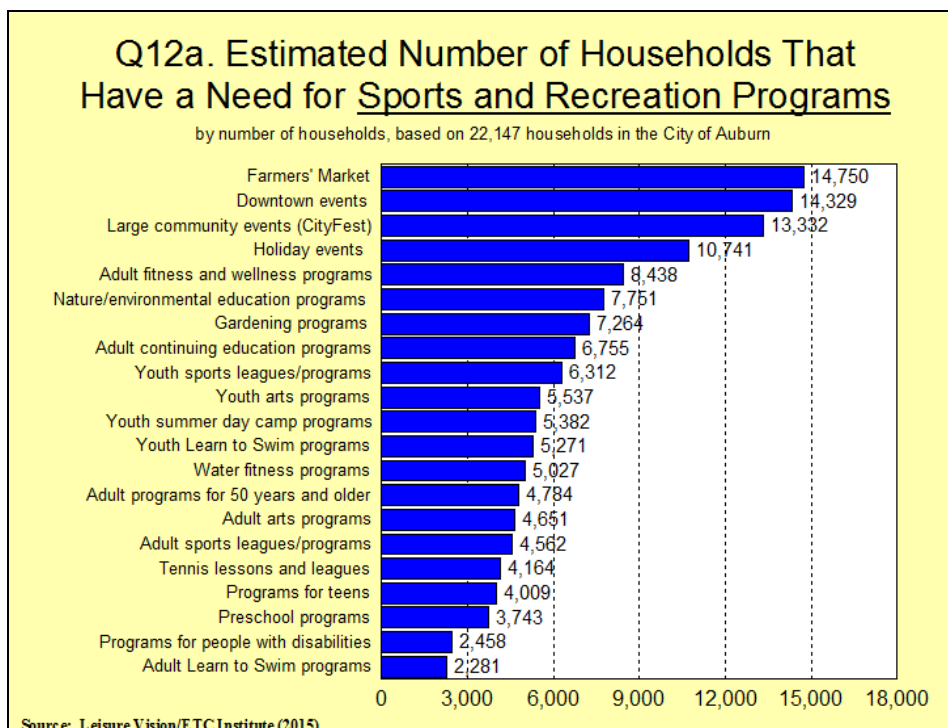

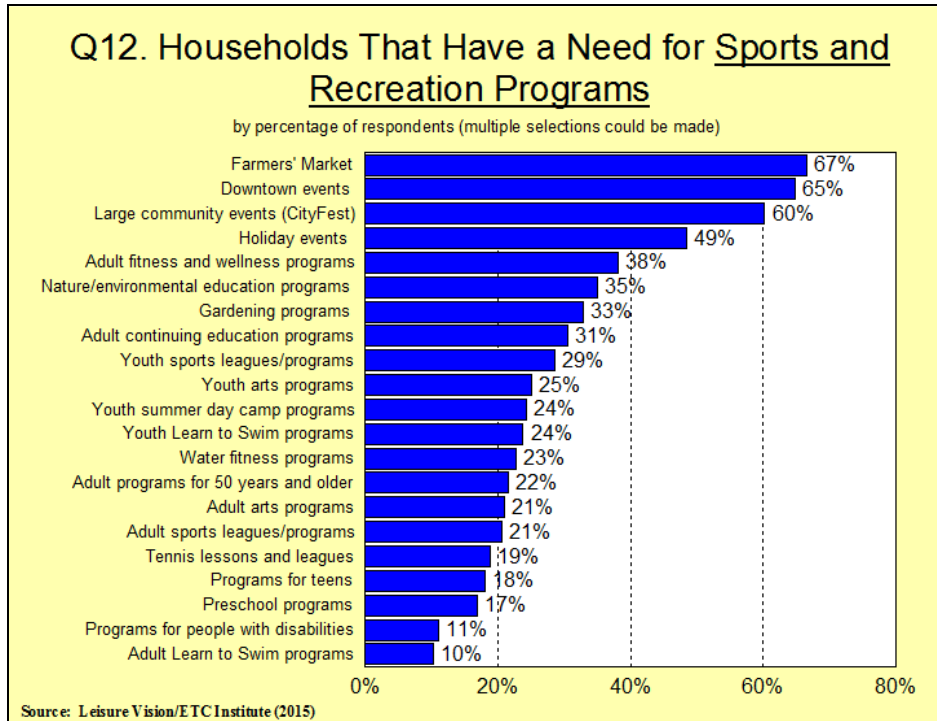

Further Analysis: By a wide margin, walking and biking trails are considered the most important sports and recreation facility by residents. Nearly 50% of respondent households rated trails as one of their four most important facilities.

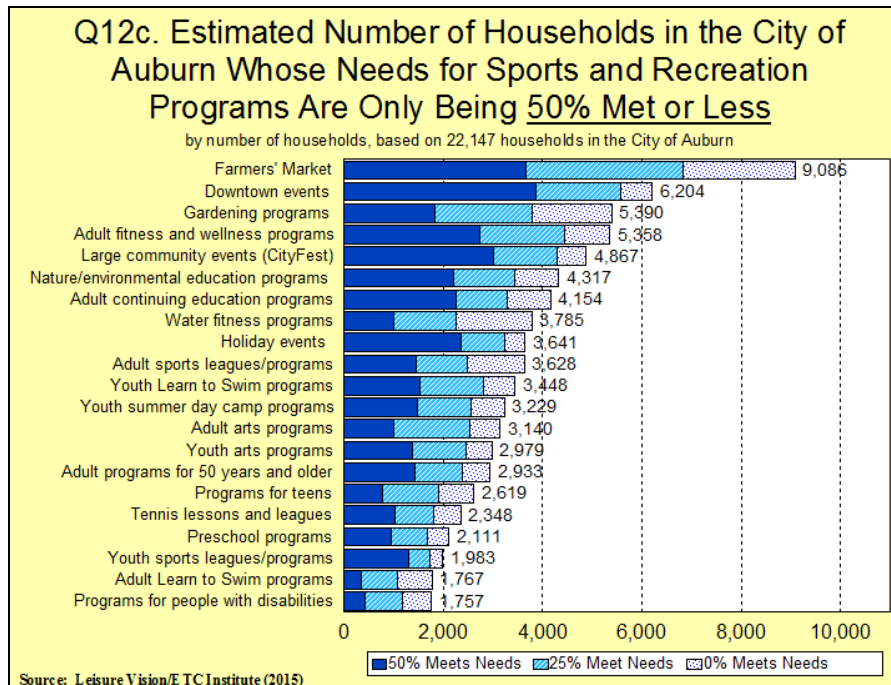

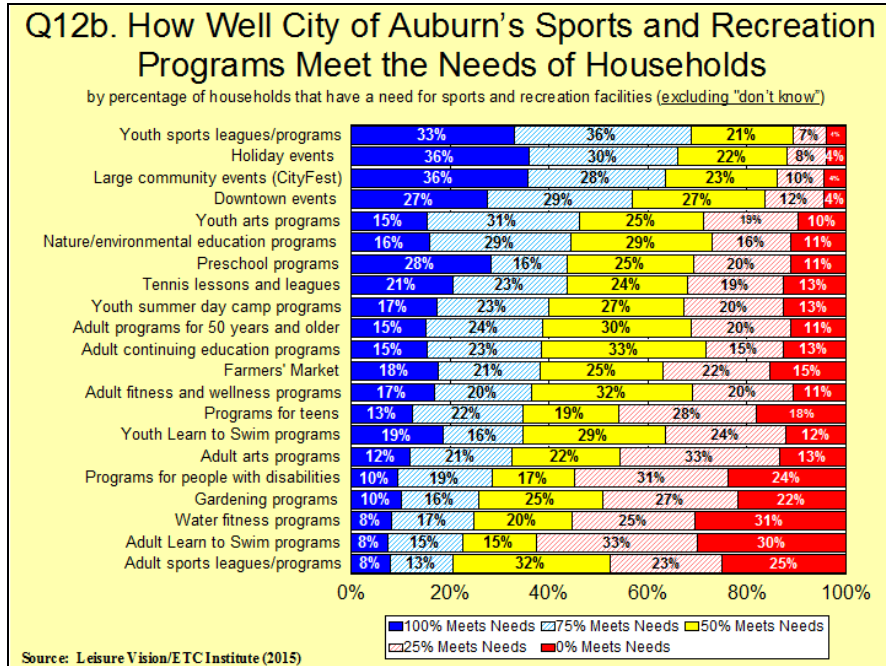

Based on a sum of their top 4 choices, walking and biking trails were the most important facility for households with children 10-19 years of age and all households without children. Playground equipment was considered the most important facility for households with children under 10 years of age. Outdoor swimming pools, youth soccer fields, youth baseball and softball fields, youth football fields, and indoor swimming pools were far more important for households with children than households without children. Outdoor basketball courts were far more important for households with children 10-19 years of age than other households.

Households That Have a Need for Sports and Recreation Programs. The sports and recreation programs that residents indicated are needed most include: Farmers’ Market, downtown events, large community events, and holiday events.

The bottom chart indicates these percentages for households into actual numbers of households based on 22,147 households in the City.

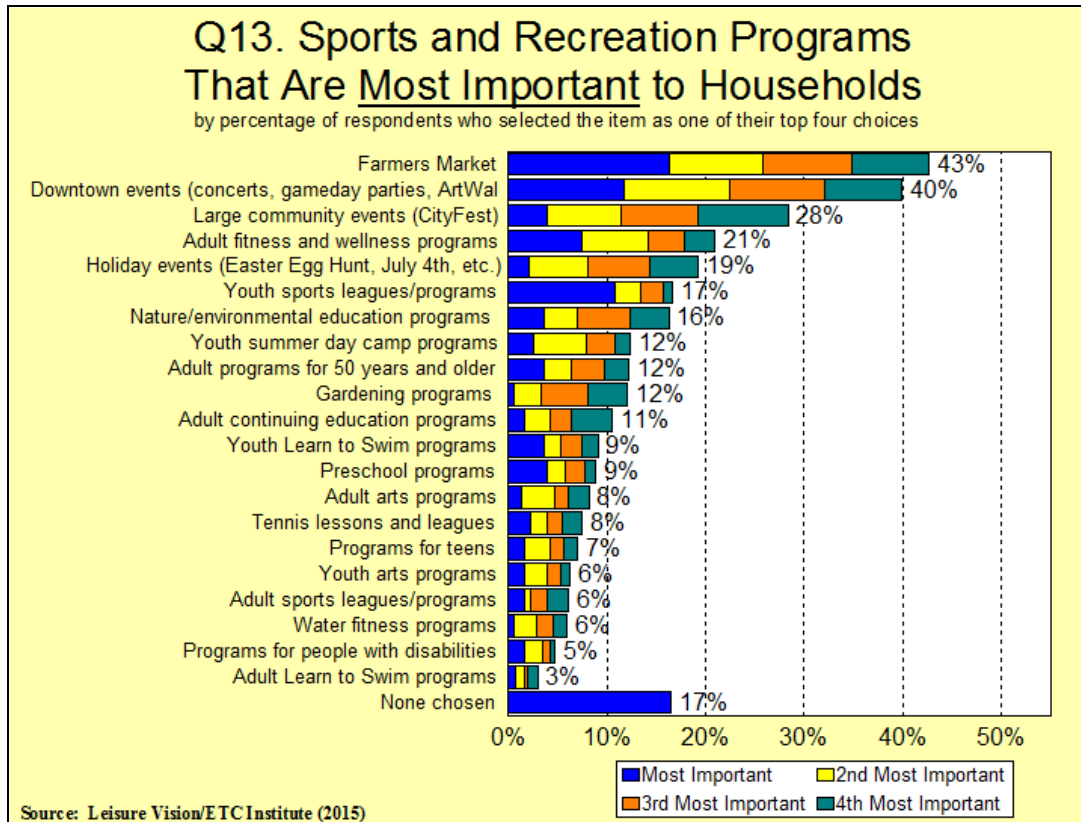

How Well Sports and Recreation Programs Are Meeting the Needs of Households. The sports and recreation programs that are meeting the needs of households the most include: Youth sports leagues and programs, holiday events, large community events, and downtown events.

Further Analysis: Generally when at least 40% of households indicate their needs are “100% being met” the City is doing an excellent job in those areas for those having a need. There are no program areas where at least 40% of households having a need indicated their needs are being met.

Sports and Recreation Programs That Are Most Important to Households. Based on the sum of their top four choices, the sports and recreation programs that are most important to households include: Farmers’ Market, downtown events, large community events, adult fitness and wellness programs, and holiday events.

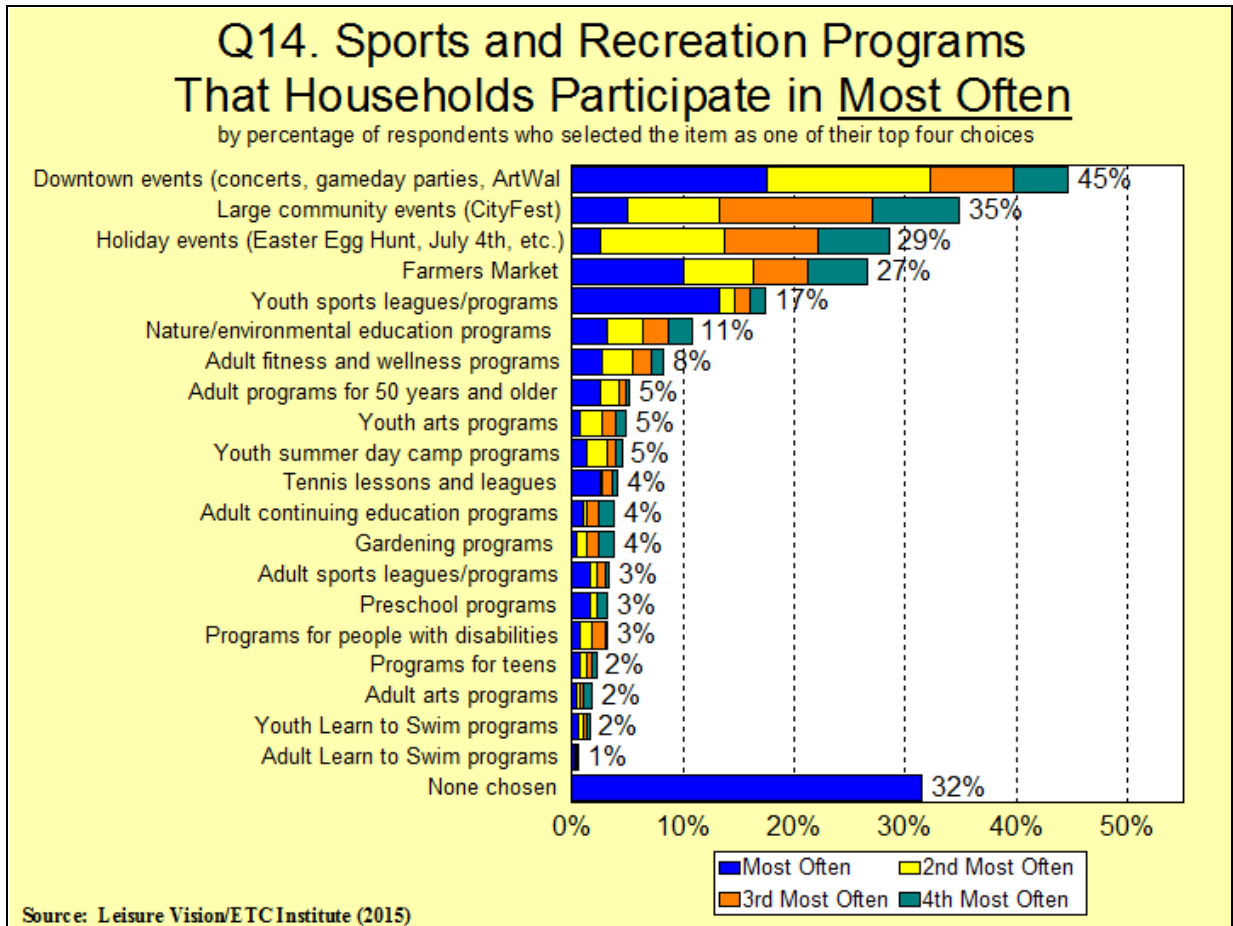

Further Analysis: By a wide margin, Farmer’s Market and Downtown events are the most important programs. Both of these programs are very important to both households with and without children. Large community events are also very important programs to both households with and without children.

However, there are substantial differences in other types of programs that are most important for households with and without children. For example, youth summer day camp programs, youth learn to swim, and preschool programs are all far more important for households with children under 10 than any other household types.

Youth sports programs are very important to households with children under 10 and 10-19 years of age but of significant less importance to households without children. Adult fitness and wellness programs are very important to households with only adults and no children, and particularly important to households with only adults 65 and older.

Given that participation in programs is lower in households with only adults, and the significant unmet needs for indoor walking/running tracks and indoor fitness and exercise facilities these are program spaces that can significantly increase program participation and based on national trends significantly increase frequent usage of facilities.

Sports and Recreation Programs That Households Participate in Most Often at City of Auburn facilities Based on the sum of their top four choices, the sports and recreation programs that households participate in most often include: Downtown events, large community events, holiday events, Farmers’ Market, and youth sports leagues and programs.

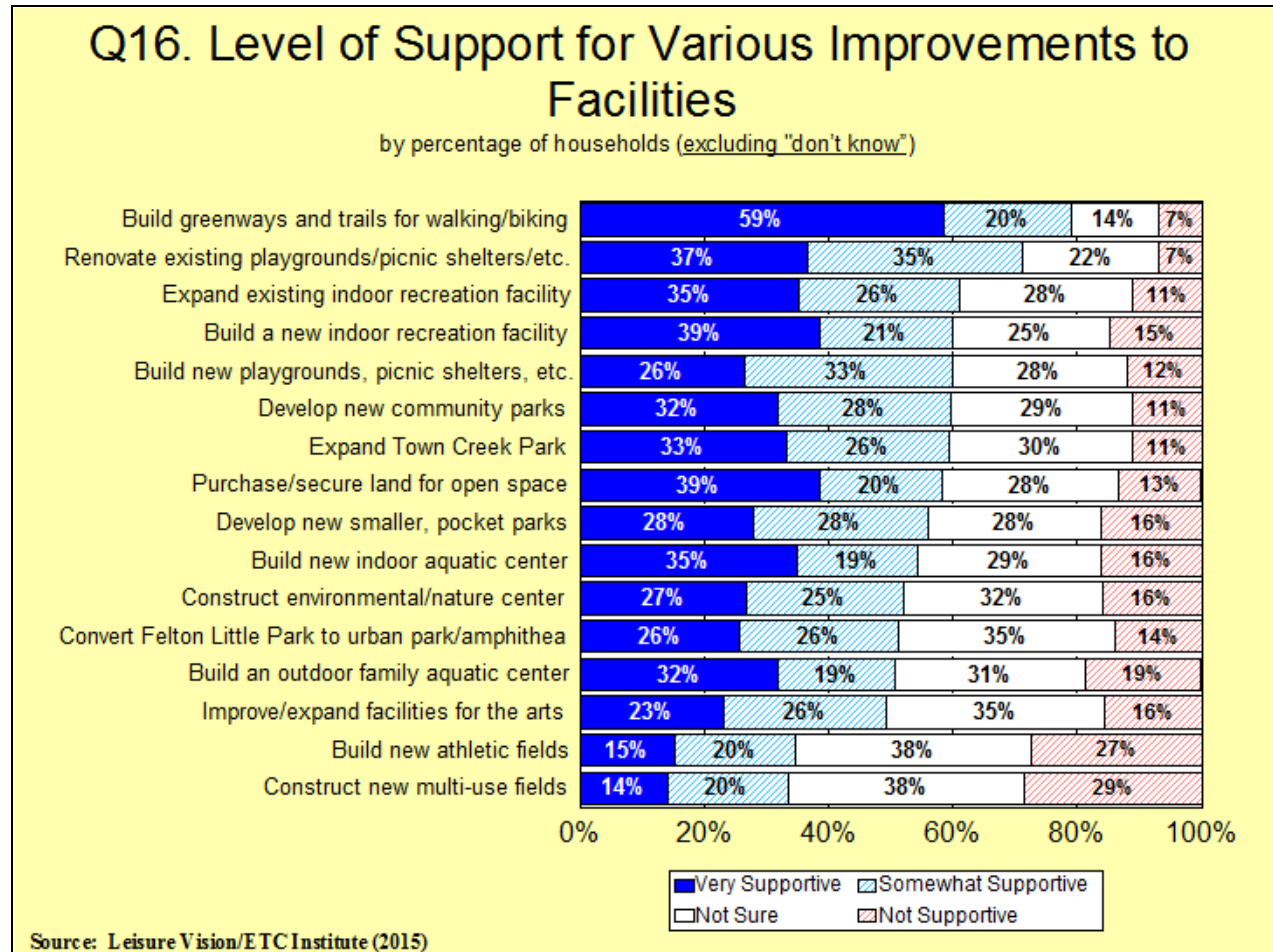

Further Analysis: As indicated on the previous page, 21% of households indicated that one of their top 4 most important programs was “adult fitness and wellness programs”. However only 8% of households indicated they participate at City facilities most often for these programs. Therefore there is a significant opportunity to grow a program of importance to citizens in City facilities.

Additionally 12% of households indicated that one of their top 4 most important programs was “adult programs for adults 50 years of age and older” while only 5% of households are participating at City facilities.

Given that participation in programs is lower in households with only adults, and the significant unmet needs for indoor walking/running tracks and indoor fitness and exercise facilities these are program spaces that can significantly increase program participation and based on national trends significantly increase frequent usage of facilities.

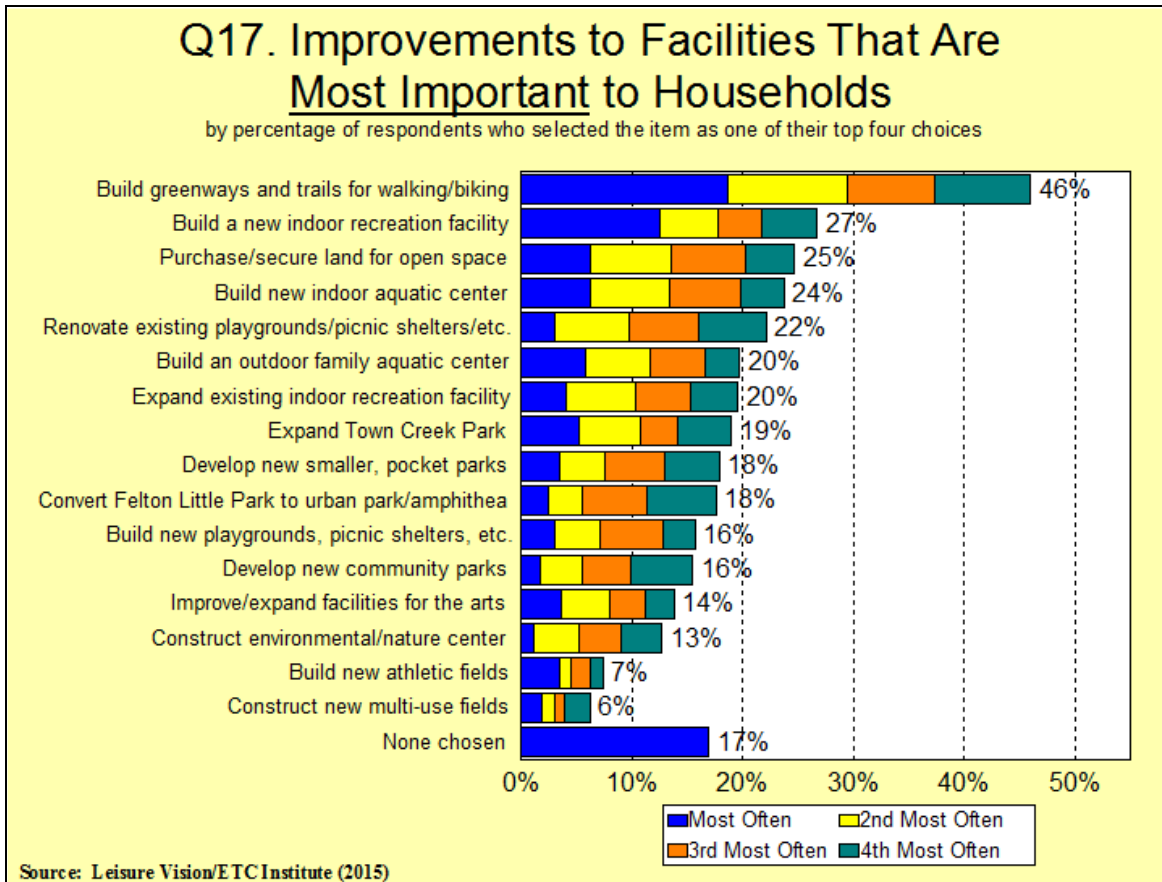

Level of Support for Various Improvements to Facilities. When residents were asked how supportive they were in having the City of Auburn make various improvements to facilities, 79% of respondents who had an opinion indicated they were either “very supportive” or “somewhat supportive” of building greenways and trails for walking and biking. Other improvements that residents were very supportive or somewhat supportive of include: Renovating existing playgrounds, picnic shelters, etc. (72%), expanding existing indoor recreation facility (61%), and building a new indoor recreation facility (60%). The facility improvement that residents support the least is the construction of new multi-use fields (34%).

Further Analysis: One of the most difficult jobs for public officials is making decisions regarding the allocation of resources. This job is particularly difficult in the area of parks and recreation facilities since there is support for a number of improvement areas. As the chart above indicates a majority of households are very or somewhat supportive of improving 14 of the 16 types of facilities.

To assist public officials in their decision-making ETC Institute has found it especially important to ask households to indicate what improvements are most important to them. Those results are indicated on the following page.

Improvements to Facilities That Are Most Important to Households. Based on the sum of their top four choices, the facility improvements that are most important to households include: Building greenways and trails for walking and biking, building a new indoor recreation facility, purchasing/securing land for open space, building a new indoor aquatic center, and renovating existing playgrounds, picnic shelters, etc.

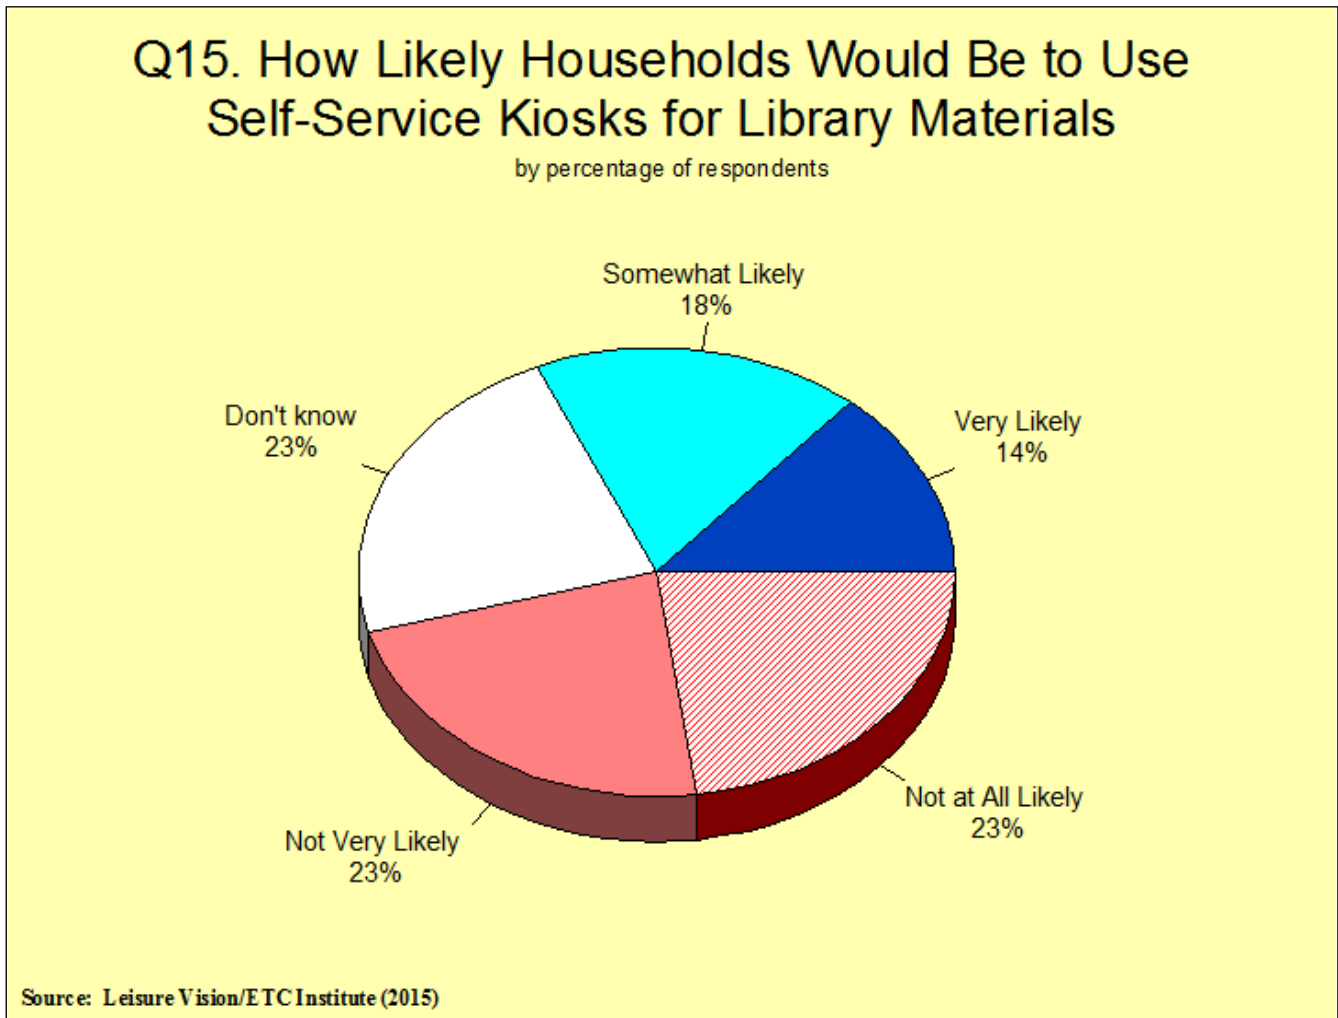

Further Analysis: By a wide margin, building greenways and trails for walking/biking is the most important improvement to households in the City of Auburn. Nearly 50% of respondent households rated building greenways and trails for walking/biking as one of their four most important improvements to facilities. This was the most important improvement for both households with and without children. Consistently through the survey, trails have shown to be among the most important facilities to residents.

Twenty-seven percent (27%) of households indicated building a new indoor recreation center, with amenities such as a walking/running track, more gymnasiums and meeting space as one of their top 4 choices; 24% indicated building a new indoor aquatic center including lap lanes. Importantly, a much higher percentage of households indicated as their first choice “building a new indoor recreation facility” than indicated renovating the existing facility.

Given that participation in programs is lower in households with only adults, and the significant unmet needs for indoor walking/running tracks, indoor fitness and exercise facilities, and indoor swimming pools/leisure pools these are program spaces that can significantly increase program participation and based on national trends significantly increase frequent usage of facilities.

Other Findings

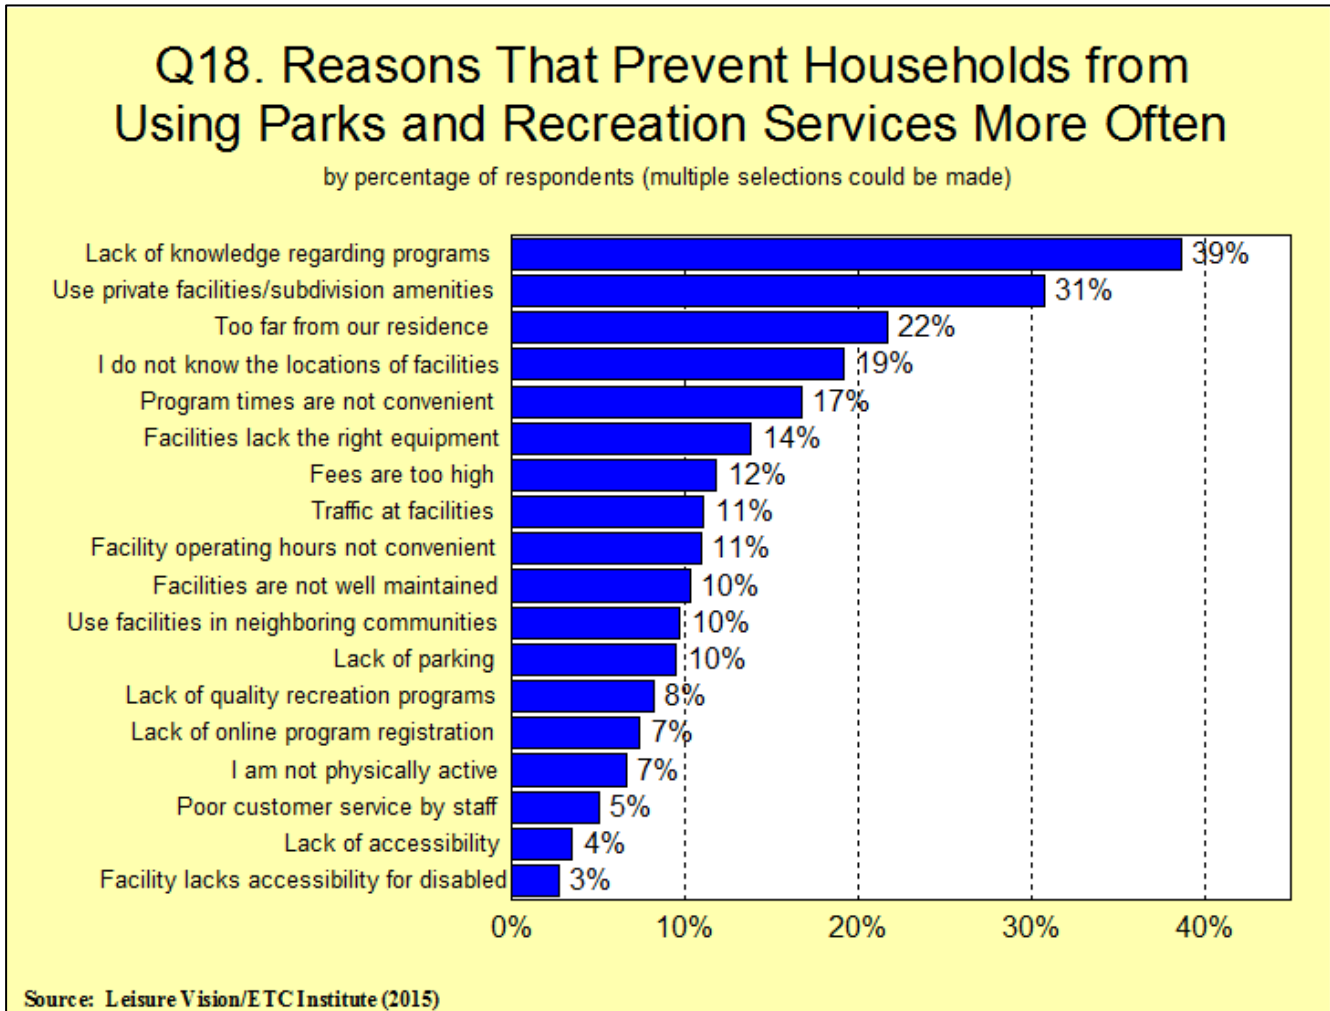

Use of Self Service Kiosks for Library Materials. When asked how likely they would be to use self-service kiosks for library materials, 32% indicated they would be “very” or “somewhat likely”. Nearly one-fourth (23%) of respondents were not sure, and the remaining 46% were not likely to use the self-service kiosks.

Further Analysis: Respondents are very split on this action, with high rates of “don’t know” responses. Households with young children and households with only adults between the ages of 20-54 are the most likely to use self-service kiosks. More than one-third of households with only adults 55 and older indicated “not likely”.

Reasons that Prevent Households from Using Parks and Recreation Facilities More Often.

When residents were asked what prevents them from using parks and recreation services more often, the reasons included: lack of knowledge regarding programs, use of private facilities or subdivision amenities, distance from residence, not knowing the locations of facilities, and inconvenient program times.

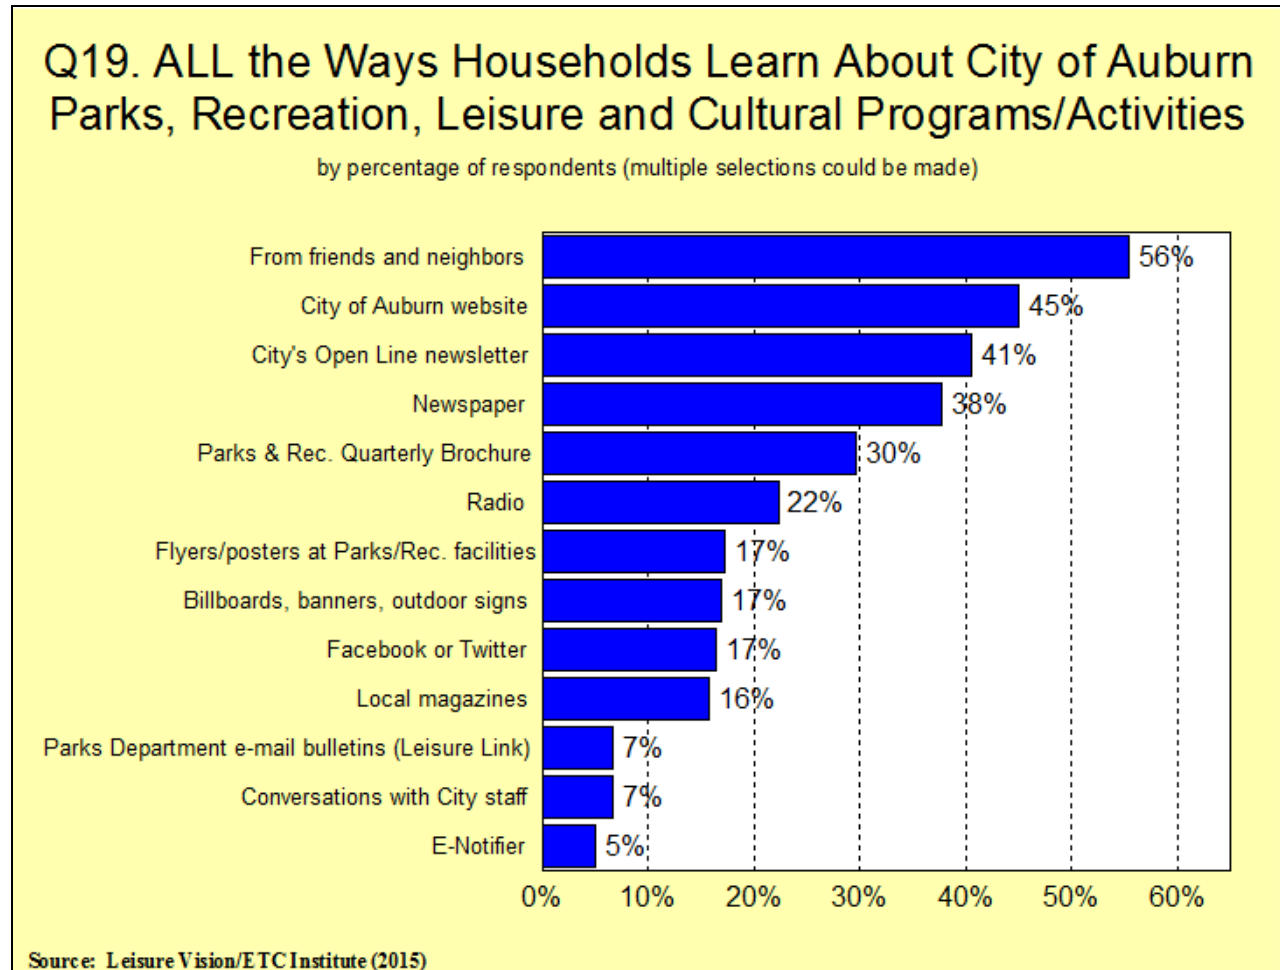

Further Analysis: Lack of knowledge regarding programs is a major barrier to participation for all demographic groups.

The national benchmark for lack of knowledge is 22%.

Ways Households Learn About City of Auburn Parks, Recreation, Leisure and Cultural Programs and Activities.

More than half (56%) of respondents indicated they learn about the city’s parks, recreation, leisure and cultural programs and activities from friends and neighbors. Other sources of information include: City of Auburn website, Open Line newsletter, newspaper, and the parks and recreation quarterly brochure.

Further Analysis: “From friends and neighbors” is the most effective means of marketing programs for both households with and without children. The City of Auburn web-site is also an effective means of marketing for the City, particularly for households with young children. Fully 67% of households with children 10 and under use the website.

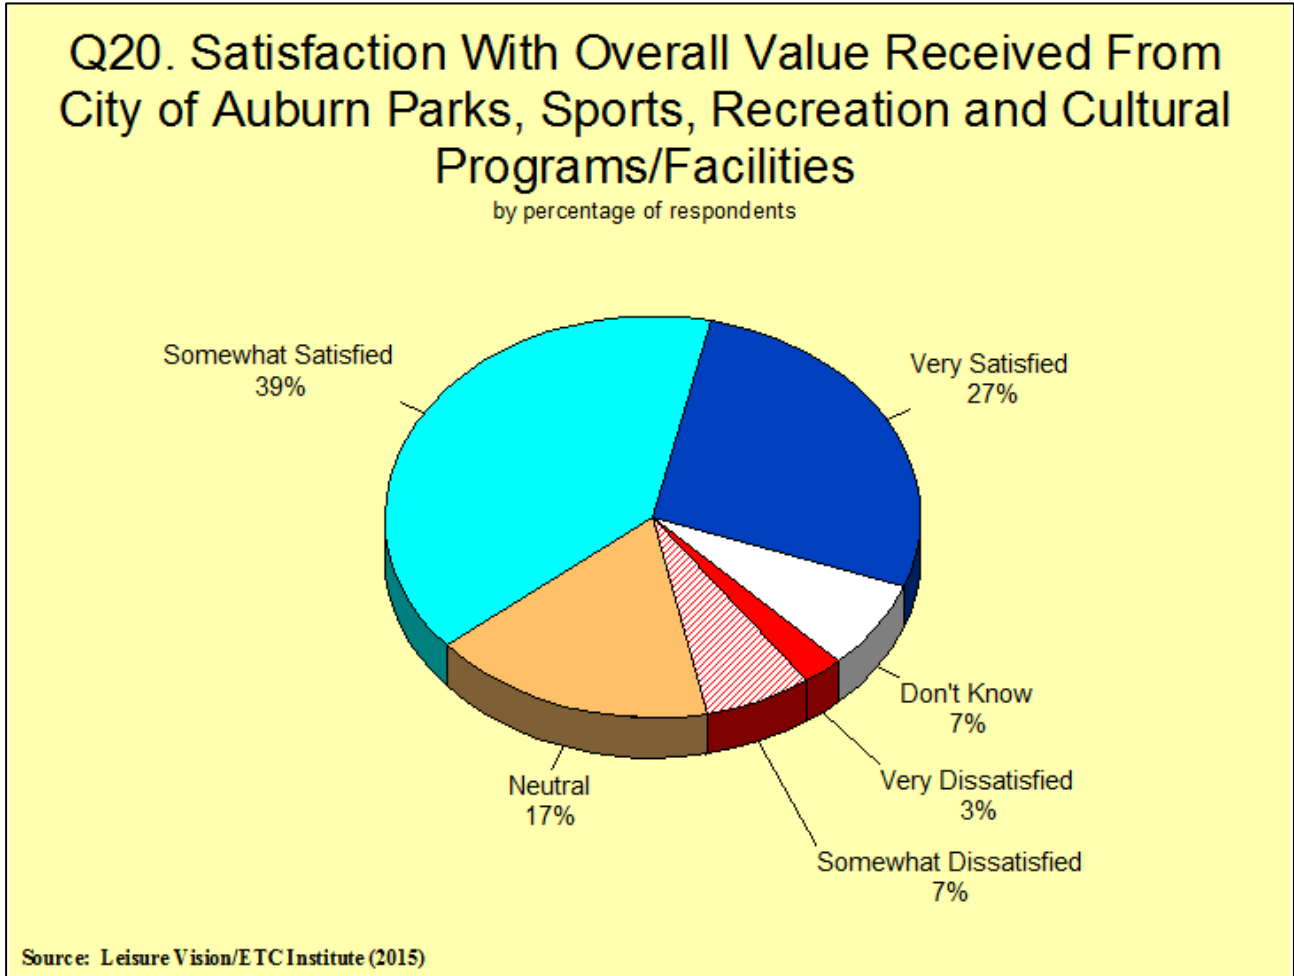

The parks and recreation brochure is far less effective: 30% of households indicated using it as a way they find out about activities.

The national benchmark for from friends and neighbors is 41%.

The national benchmark for from city website is 20%.

The national benchmark for from brochure is 63%.

Level of Overall Satisfaction. Two-thirds of the residents surveyed (66%) were either “very satisfied” or “somewhat satisfied” with the overall value received from the City of Auburn parks, sports, recreation and cultural programs and facilities; 17% indicated they were “neutral”, 10% were dissatisfied and 7% did not have an opinion.

Further Analysis: At least 20% of households with and without children are very satisfied with the overall value received, and at least 60% are very or somewhat satisfied.

The national benchmark for very satisfied is 27%.

Priority Investment Rating (PIR). The Priority Investment Rating (PIR) was developed by ETC Institute to provide the City of Auburn with an objective tool for evaluating the priority that should be placed on parks and recreation investments. Since decisions related to future investments should consider both the level of unmet need and the perceived priority that residents think should be placed on improvements, the Priority Investment Rating reflects the sum of the Unmet Need Rating and the Importance Rating.

- The Unmet Need Rating reflects the amount of unmet need for specific parks/recreation programs and facilities in the City. The programs and facilities with the greatest unmet need in each of three major categories that were assessed on the survey (cultural programs and facilities, sports/recreation facilities, and sports/recreation programs) received an Unmet Need Rating of 100. The Unmet Need Rating for all other programs and facilities reflects the amount of unmet need for these items relative to the highest rated item in each category. For example, an item with an Unmet Need Rating of 50 would have half the unmet need of the program or facility in the category with the greatest unmet need.
- The Importance Rating reflects the percentage of households who thought various parks/recreation programs and facilities were important to their household. The programs and facilities that were important to the greatest number of households in each of three major categories assessed on the survey (cultural programs and facilities, sports/recreation facilities, and sports/recreation programs) received an Importance Rating of 100. The Importance Rating for all other programs and facilities reflects the importance that residents placed on each of these items relative to the item that was most important. For example, an item with a rating of 50 would have been important to half as many households as the item with the highest Importance Rating.

The items with the highest Priority Investment Rating in each of the three major categories that were assessed on the survey are listed below. The tables on the following pages show the PIR for all items that were assessed in the survey.

- Cultural programs and facilities:
 - Green space/natural areas (PIR=200.0)
 - Community gardens (PIR=165.4)
- Recreation/Sports PROGRAMS:
 - Farmers Market (PIR=200.0)
 - Downtown events (PIR=152.9)
- Recreation/Sports FACILITIES:
 - Walking/biking trails (PIR=178.2)
 - Small neighborhood parks (PIR=137.3)

Benchmarking Analysis

National Benchmarking

Since 1998, Leisure Vision (a division of ETC Institute) has conducted household surveys for needs assessments, feasibility studies, customer satisfaction, fees and charges comparisons, and other parks and recreation issues in more than 700 communities in over 45 states across the country.

The results of these surveys have provided an unparalleled database of information to compare responses from household residents in client communities to “National Averages” and therefore provide a unique tool to “assist organizations in better decision making.”

Communities within the database include a full-range of municipal and county governments from 20,000 in population through over 1 million in population. They include communities in warm weather climates and cold weather climates, mature communities and some of the fastest growing cities and counties in the country.

“National Averages” have been developed for numerous strategically important parks and recreation planning and management issues including: customer satisfaction and usage of parks and programs; methods for receiving marketing information; reasons that prevent members of households from using parks and recreation facilities more often; priority recreation programs, parks, facilities and trails to improve or develop; priority programming spaces to have in planned community centers and aquatic facilities; potential attendance for planned indoor community centers and outdoor aquatic centers; etc.

To keep the benchmarking database current with changing trends, Leisure Vision’s benchmarking database is updated on an annual basis and we only use citizen survey results going back a maximum of five years in our current benchmarking averages.

Results from household responses for the City of Auburn were compared to National Benchmarks to gain further strategic information. A summary of all tabular comparisons are shown on the following pages.
